Stiff Penalties To Be Sought

FBI Plans More Arrests In Alabama Racial Riots

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department geared today for a possible long line of criminal prosecutions over Alabama's "freedom riders" racial violence.

A force of FBI agents, thrown into the area over the weekend, made its first arrests late Monday and more arrests were expected. The Justice Department indicated it would seek stiff penalties.

All of last week's outbreaks followed efforts by out-of-state white and Negro students to break Alabama's ban on integrated bus seating.

In the initial arrests, four men were taken into custody by FBI agents at Anniston, Ala., and charged with the fire bombing of an interstate bus near the city May 14.

The offense carries penalties up to 20 years in prison and a fine of $10,000.

The Anniston incident, in which the mob of white men broke the bus windows and tossed in a fire bomb, was the first of the past week's violence.

Other freedom riders, traveling by bus into Alabama from Atlanta, Ga., were kicked and beaten at Anniston and Birmingham. On Saturday, a major free-for-all broke out—with a number of persons injured—when an interstate bus arrived at Montgomery, Ala.

Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy announced the Aniston arrests late Monday after a 45-minute conference at the White House with his brother, President Kennedy.

Despite the Alabama race troubles, Senate Democratic Leaer Mike Mansfield of Montana said the administration will not seek new civil rights laws this year.

The Alabama congressional delegation — both senators and all nine House members—joined Alabama Gov. John Patterson Monday in urging that federal marshals be recalled from the state.

A telegram made public by Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala., said the delegation deplored violence but had been assured by the governor that the state "has the means, the ability and the will to keep the peace without outside help." The appeal was sent to President Kennedy and the attorney general.

Guardsmen Firm In Alabama

Man Held For Beating 2 Newsmen In Race Riot

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Police today announced the arrest of a man accused of beating two newsmen in the outbreak of race rioting that put this city under martial law.

Roving bands of white youths, bomb threats and reports of new attempts at racially integrated freedom rides caused an uneasy night in this Alabama capital city ruled by National Guardsmen with a firm hand.

The Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) said it was trying to make bus reservations for another freedom ride. Such a trip Saturday touched off the bloody riot and led to Sunday's attempted mob assault on a Negro church.

Assistant Police Chief E. P. Brown said a man identified as Claude Henley, 37, of Montgomery was jailed and then released under $200 bond on charges of attacking NBC cameraman Maurice (Moe) Leavey and soundman H. W. Riser.

A mob jerked cameras from photographers and beat the newsmen before savagely attacking nearly two dozen white and Negro freedom riders just after they stepped off a bus in the Greyhound station Saturday.

Also beaten was John Seigenthaler, an assistant to Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy. Seigenthaler had come here as President Kennedy's emissary to ask Gov. John Patterson to guarantee the safety of the freedom riders.

Five persons were fined from $25 to $100 Monday for failing to obey officers at the bus station riot. Police said the five did not take part in the violence.

National Guardsmen, who took over the city under Gov. Patterson's order of qualified martial law, Monday night quadrupled their guard at the Greyhound bus station to keep away loitering white youths. City police arrested seven youths who surrounded two Negroes in a car.

Another element in the building tension was the expected arrival of 12 American Nazi party's "hate bus" riders. Party head George Lincoln Rockwell described the bus as a protest against communism and integration.

Guardsmen in Jeeps, or on foot in squads with fixed bayonets, patrolled the streets. City police aided, but the hundreds of federal marshals ordered here by Atty. Gen. Kennedy were no longer on the streets.

The marshals, who kept the Sunday night mob at bay at the Negro First Baptist church until state patrolmen and guardsmen arrived, were withdrawn by the Justice Department. They are standing by at Maxwell Air Force Base on the outskirts of the city.

Anonymously telephoned bomb threats were made to the bus station, radio station WAPX, two white junior high schools, a white college and a Negro college.

Son's Appointment Urged In Beaver Post

Sen. John C. Miller of Pennsylvania sent telegrams Monday to Beaver County judges, asking that James Camp, burgess of Rochester, be appointed to the commissioner post vacant since the death of his father, Gordon Camp, in a plane crash May 12.

The telegrams were sent to Judges Morgan Sohn and Robert McCreary, Sen. Miller said that in decency and appreciation of Gordon Camp, it would be an error to give the post to someone who would opposite the late commissioner's ideas.

Burgess Eli Corak of Midland, also Beaver County Democratic chairman and a state workingmen's insurance fund referee, has been mentioned for the post. Both he and the late Mr. Camp were political enemies, observers say.

Corak is favored for the post by U. S. Rep. Frank M. Clark, and Assemblymen Charles D. Stone, Beryl Klein and Robert K. Hamilton who met Sunday.

The judges have 30 days in which to pick a successor.

Arrest Of 3 Cracks Ring On Extortion

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The arrest of three men who allegedly posed as police officers to fleece their victims has broken up what authorities here believe was a nationwide extortion racket.

The three are Robert Frank Schwartz, 23, of Belmor, N.J., William Joseph Ryan, 45, of Chicago, and Louis Peter Kocuszek, 48, of Carlyle, Ill.

Schwartz and Ryan were booked into city jail here Monday for investigation of blackmail, impersonating a police officer and kidnaping.

Kocuszek was arrested last Thursday after police say a blackmail attempt in a downtown hotel went awry. He has already been charged and arraigned and is held under $50,000 bond.

Detectives said the downfall of Schwartz and Ryan was brought about by their demand for $10,000 from a local manufacturing official.

The two confronted the 41-year-old businessman Monday with a warrant for his arrest, accusing him of a perverted sex act, detectives said.

But, they added, the victim's mother spotted the pair for what they really were — "a couple of blackmailers," she called them—and Ryan and Schwartz feld. They were picked up later.

The tools of their trade, found in a briefcase which they threw away as they fled, included police credentials, handcuffs and warrants.

Later, in their hotel rooms, also found were police shirts and hats and lieutenant bars, and evidence of their operations in other cities, detectives said.

Detective Lt. Richard Grundish explained what he called their highpriced operations this way:

The men would make friendly contact with an intended victim. Some time later they would pass themselves off as police officers and confront the victim with trumped-up charges.

The impostors would then tell the intended victim he could get out of the charge by posting bond.

In the case of the local businessman, he acceded to pay them only half of what they asked, or $5,000.

Charges Fly On Deal To Free 1,200

Congressmen Hurl Demands At Rusk; Castro In Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crackling charges and demands threatened the tractors-for-prisoners trade today from two sides—the U. S. Congress and Fidel Castro.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was faced with angry congressional demands that he say whether the administration approves the private efforts to exchange earthmoving equipment for the freedom of 1,200 Cuban invasion prisoners.

A flurry of heated speeches in which Cuban Prime Minister Castro's proposal for such an exchange was described as a "heinous barter" by an "inhuman monster" kept the Senate in session until early evening Monday.

From Cuba, meanwhile, came word that Castro reportedly threatens to break off the negotiations.

"If the insults of Mr. Kennedy's agents continue with regard to the indemnification Cuba demands," said an official Cuban radio commentator, "then all discussion will be stopped and the mercenaries (prisoners) will have to face the revolutionary tribunals of the Cuban people."

Castro has been infuriated by the United States' calling the proposal an exchange. He insists it is indemnification for damage caused by the invasion.

Exchange or indemnification, U. S. Senators minced no words about the proposition.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., chairman of the Senate Latin American subcommittee, said the State Department owes it to the American people to make a statement of policy on the offer.

He asked Rusk to announce soon "what the position of our government is."

Morse called it "a dangerous thing to countenance" voluntary committees whose operations are bound to have "repercussions on our foreign policy."

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he did not believe the government "should lend itself to that kind of a blackmail operation."

While the turmoil swirled, the fund-raising committee — composed of labor leader Walter P. Reuther, Eleanor Roosevelt, and Dr. Milton Eisenhower, brother of the former president—met with a delegation of 10 Cuban prisoners. The prisoners were paroled by Castro to come to the United States to try to negotiate the deal.

Reuther announced afterward that his group had agreed to supply the tractors, provided Castro meets certain conditions.

Judges Hold Dismissal Of 4 'Void'

GOP Commission Told Quartet Was Under Civil Service

LISBON — The 7th District Court of Appeals Monday again ruled in favor of four Democratic-appointed Courthouse employes seeking pay from Feb. 1 when Republican County commissioners named four others to replace them.

The appellate court which had originally approved the Democrat petition for pay, Monday presented a "finding of fact" to Prosecutor G. William Brokaw concerning the case.

The prosecutor April 28 asked for the finding, claiming the original ruling was made without consideration of all the evidence.

He later asked for a dismissal of the case because the Democarts' counsel had not filed objections in the prescribed time, but this request was denied.

Prosecutor Brokaw now has 10 days in which to file an appeal with the Ohio Supreme Court.

Brokaw now has before the Ohio Supreme Court a move to require the Ohio Department of Personnel to authorize payment for one of the GOP appointees.

The court's ruling yesterday listed the "finding of facts" in the case.

The ruling declared the four Democrats were appointed in 1959 to their Courthouse jobs, and the nominations for the jobs were made to the state for non-competitive examinations, and the commissioners "conducted a non-competitive examination" as prescribed.

Brokaw has maintained that the job forms, although labeled as examinations, are mere application forms.

The court yesterday said the employes were approved by the state, they served in the jobs until Feb. 1, no reason was given for the "discharge," no competitive examination has been held and no eligibility list has been made available from which to appoint successors.

The court said it heard the testimony of numerous witnesses and saw the exhibits before admitting them as evidence. Testimony was not transcribed nor did the court require it because all the testimony was heard.

The court concluded:

1. The employes were improperly discharged.

2. The attempted discharge is void under Revised Code Sec. 143.01.

3. The employes have no adequate remedy at law.

4. They have the status of Civil Service employes and are entitled to serve until discharged for just cause until an appointment is made from an eligibility list; they may not be summarily discharged.

Man Injured In 'Blackout' Auto Mishap

Incinerator Truck Hit In Maplewood; Child Hurt By Car

A Maplewood motorist is in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered Monday when he said he "blacked out" and his car struck a halted city incinerator truck, slightly injuring the driver.

Merle W. Bartram, 56, of 403 Burrows Ave. suffered a laceration of the leg and possible fracture in the crash which demolished his 1955 sedan.

The left front of the 1960 city truck driven by Dorsey L. Beaver, 40, of 1785 Pennsylvania Ave. also was damaged, police said. Beaver was released after treatment for bruises of the right knee and right wrist.

Beaver told police he was headed east on Burrows Ave. when he saw Bartram make the turn from St. Clair Ave. When the car was about 10 feet away, Beaver said he realized the driver wasn't going to pull over and put his foot on the truck's brake.

Bertram told police he "blacked out" and didn't remember anything after turning off St. Clair Ave. Police said his car was about two feet over the centerline.

Meanwhile, a 5-year-old girl suffered a bruise of the left foot Monday afternoon at 4 when she jumped off a flight of steps in Grove Ln. near E. 4th St. and was bumped by an auto, police reported.

Gen. LeMay Seen Pushing Bomber Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Curtis E. LeMay's advent as Air Force chief of staff may signal a new effort to win an administration go-ahead for the 2,000-mile-an-hour B70 bomber.

LeMay a veteran bomber pilot and first chief of the Strategic Air Command, is an exponent of the B70 and a believer in the concept of a mixed bomber-missile force as a main deterrent to enemy attack for some years to come.

An associate of the incoming staff chief said LeMay believes the B70 is needed and that the general doesn't want to see it canceled or delayed.

This LeMay associate contended the B70 project has not been abandoned; that the Kennedy administration has reached no final decision. He spoke in terms of presenting a case for the B70 "in court," apparently meaning the highest levels of the administration.

Generally, the source familiar with LeMay's thinking said he expected "no radical changes" when the bluff, vigorous, 54-year-old general takes over from retiring General Thomas D. White July 1.

LeMay has been vice chief under White for four years, the source noted, and thus has worked with White in developing the policies and practices now in effect.

But where White was an appointee of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, LeMay is President Kennedy's choice.

Court Ruling Favors New Tax At Midland

Beaver County Judge Robert McCreary Monday afternoon overruled objections to the Midland occupation tax and dismissed a case in equity of several non-resident employes of the borough.

The opinion, 15 pages long, was termed a final definitive order of the court enbanc for the purpose of appeal.

The $10 a year occupation tax was adopted by Midland Council Feb. 23. It goes into effect June 1 and preparations for its collection are being made with employers.

Atty. R. Clifton Hood of Beaver Falls, representing the plaintiffs, said following a ruling of April 28 that it would likely be appealed to the Pennsylvania State Superior Court but not until the court gave its final opinion.

Atty. Robert Masters, borough solicitor, represented the borough during hearings. Testimony in the case in equity was held April 25 and continued to Monday. The tax is designed to produce $60,000 annually.

Funeral Set For Man Shot In Holdup

Florida Gas Station Operator Slays Ex-City Resident

Services will be held Thursday afternoon in Midland for a former East Liverpool man who was wounded fatally in an attempted holdup of a Tampa (Fla.) service station Thursday night.

The Associated Press said police in the Florida city reported William Edward Drumm Jr., 31, was shot when he approached Alfonso Pierce, 54, night manager of a service station, and announced his intentions of staging a holdup.

Instead of putting his hands in the air as Drumm ordered, Pierce went for his pocket, drew his own weapon and fired three shots. Drumm's body was found several hours later by police on the floor of a house trailer, the AP reported. He had been shot in the chest.

The Florida police are holding Vernon Page, 18, Drumm's companion, on a charge of attempted robbery. They said Page admitted driving Drumm's car in the holdup attempt. Police here said Page also may be a former local resident.

Officers in Tampa said Pierce shot another gunman during a holdup attempt several months ago. The man recovered and now is awaiting trial.

East Liverpool police said Drumm was wanted for parole violation. They said they had an order to pick him up for violation of his parole on an auto theft charge.

Sheriff Russell Van Fossan's office said Drumm also was returned to prison in August 1959 as a parole violator.

Police said Drumm's last known local address was W. 8th St. Officers said when he left East Liverpool, he resided in Beaver Falls but they did not know for how long. He apparently had been liv-

Plus New Economic Tools

Kennedy To Seek More Space And Defense Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is about to ask Congress for a big boost in space and defense spending, plus a modest new set of economic tools to try to curtail hard-core unemployment.

The word moderate is one most frequently heard to describe the plans the President is drafting to send to Congress in the next few days in a new economic message. The cost may run to around $1 billion.

Kennedy is reported to have overruled some key advisers who advocated a broad public works program and other non-military spending proposals aimed at curbing unemployment.

Instead, the President is said to have decided that, with business conditions improving, emphasis on speeding U.S. efforts to beat the Soviets in putting a man on the moon and strengthening the nation's defenses is more urgent and politically feasible. This program, too, will create jobs.

This is what he is likely to recommend to Congress:

Unemployment compensation standards. The states would have to meet these federal standards in raising the amount and duration of benefits. Congress always has resisted such proposals, but in the past two recessions it has

Stiff Penalties To Be Sought

FBI Plans More Arrests In Alabama Racial Riots

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department geared today for a possible long line of criminal prosecutions over Alabama's "freedom riders" racial violence.

A force of FBI agents, thrown into the area over the weekend, made its first arrests late Monday and more arrests were expected. The Justice Department indicated it would seek stiff penalties.

All of last week's outbreaks followed efforts by out-of-state white and Negro students to break Alabama's ban on integrated bus seating.

In the initial arrests, four men were taken into custody by FBI agents at Anniston, Ala., and charged with the fire bombing of an interstate bus near the city May 14.

The offense carries penalties up to 20 years in prison and a fine of $10,000.

The Anniston incident, in which the mob of white men broke the bus windows and tossed in a fire bomb, was the first of the past week's violence.

Other freedom riders, traveling by bus into Alabama from Atlanta, Ga., were kicked and beaten at Anniston and Birmingham. On Saturday, a major free-for-all broke out—with a number of persons injured—when an interstate bus arrived at Montgomery, Ala.

Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy announced the Aniston arrests late Monday after a 45-minute conference at the White House with his brother, President Kennedy.

Despite the Alabama race troubles, Senate Democratic Leaer Mike Mansfield of Montana said the administration will not seek new civil rights laws this year.

The Alabama congressional delegation — both senators and all nine House members—joined Alabama Gov. John Patterson Monday in urging that federal marshals be recalled from the state.

A telegram made public by Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala., said the delegation deplored violence but had been assured by the governor that the state "has the means, the ability and the will to keep the peace without outside help." The appeal was sent to President Kennedy and the attorney general.

Guardsmen Firm In Alabama

Man Held For Beating 2 Newsmen In Race Riot

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Police today announced the arrest of a man accused of beating two newsmen in the outbreak of race rioting that put this city under martial law.

Congressmen Hurl Demands At Rusk; Castro In Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crackling charges and demands threatened the tractors-for-prisoners trade today from two sides—the U. S. Congress and Fidel Castro.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was faced with angry congressional demands that he say whether the administration approves the private efforts to exchange earthmoving equipment for the freedom of 1,200 Cuban invasion prisoners.

A flurry of heated speeches in which Cuban Prime Minister Castro's proposal for such an exchange was described as a "heinous barter" by an "inhuman monster" kept the Senate in session until early evening Monday.

From Cuba, meanwhile, came word that Castro reportedly threatens to break off the negotiations.

"If the insults of Mr. Kennedy's agents continue with regard to the indemnification Cuba demands," said an official Cuban radio commentator, "then all discussion will be stopped and the mercenaries (prisoners) will have to face the revolutionary tribunals of the Cuban people."

Castro has been infuriated by the United States' calling the proposal an exchange. He insists it is indemnification for damage caused by the invasion.

Exchange or indemnification, U. S. Senators minced no words about the proposition.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., chairman of the Senate Latin American subcommittee, said the State Department owes it to the American people to make a statement of policy on the offer.

He asked Rusk to announce soon "what the position of our government is."

Judges Hold Dismissal Of 4 'Void'

GOP Commission Told Quartet Was Under Civil Service

LISBON — The 7th District Court of Appeals Monday again ruled in favor of four Democratic-appointed Courthouse employes seeking pay from Feb. 1 when Republican County commissioners named four others to replace them.

The appellate court which had originally approved the Democrat petition for pay, Monday presented a "finding of fact" to Prosecutor G. William Brokaw concerning the case.

The prosecutor April 28 asked for the finding, claiming the original ruling was made without consideration of all the evidence.

He later asked for a dismissal of the case because the Democarts' counsel had not filed objections in the prescribed time, but this request was denied.

Prosecutor Brokaw now has 10 days in which to file an appeal with the Ohio Supreme Court.

Brokaw now has before the Ohio Supreme Court a move to require the Ohio Department of Personnel to authorize payment for one of the GOP appointees.

The court's ruling yesterday listed the "finding of facts" in the case.

The ruling declared the four Democrats were appointed in 1959 to their Courthouse jobs, and the nominations for the jobs were made to the state for non-competitive examinations, and the commissioners "conducted a non-competitive examination" as prescribed.

Brokaw has maintained that the job forms, although labeled as examinations, are mere application forms.

The court yesterday said the employes were approved by the state, they served in the jobs until Feb. 1, no reason was given for the "discharge," no competitive examination has been held and no eligibility list has been made available from which to appoint successors.

The court said it heard the testimony of numerous witnesses and saw the exhibits before admitting them as evidence. Testimony was not transcribed nor did the court require it because all the testimony was heard.

The court concluded:

1. The employes were improperly discharged.
2. The attempted discharge is void under Revised Code Sec. 143.01.
3. The employes have no adequate remedy at law.
4. They have the status of Civil Service employes and are entitled to serve until discharged for just cause until an appointment is made from an eligibility list; they may not be summarily discharged.

Man Injured In 'Blackout' Auto Mishap

Incinerator Truck Hit In Maplewood; Child Hurt By Car

A Maplewood motorist is in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered Monday when he said he "blacked out" and his car struck a halted city incinerator truck, slightly injuring the driver.

Merle W. Bartram, 56, of 403 Burrows Ave. suffered a laceration of the leg and possible fracture in the crash which demolished his 1955 sedan.

The left front of the 1960 city truck driven by Dorsey L. Beaver, 40, of 1785 Pennsylvania Ave. also was damaged, police said. Beaver was released after treatment for bruises of the right knee and right wrist.

Beaver told police he was headed east on Burrows Ave. when he saw Bartram make the turn from St. Clair Ave. When the car was about 10 feet away, Beaver said he realized the driver wasn't going to pull over and put his foot on the truck's brake.

Bertram told police he "blacked out" and didn't remember anything after turning off St. Clair Ave. Police said his car was about two feet over the centerline.

Meanwhile, a 5-year-old girl suffered a bruise of the left foot Monday afternoon at 4 when she jumped off a flight of steps in Grove Ln. near E. 4th St. and was bumped by an auto, police reported.

She is Joni Flara, daughter of

Gen. LeMay Seen Pushing Bomber Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Curtis E. LeMay's advent as Air Force chief of staff may signal a new effort to win an administration go-ahead for the 2,000-mile-an-hour B70 bomber.

LeMay a veteran bomber pilot and first chief of the Strategic Air Command, is an exponent of the B70 and a believer in the concept of a mixed bomber-missile force as a main deterrent to enemy attack for some years to come.

An associate of the incoming staff chief said LeMay believes the B70 is needed and that the general doesn't want to see it canceled or delayed.

This LeMay associate contended the B70 project has not been abandoned; that the Kennedy administration has reached no final decision. He spoke in terms of presenting a case for the B70 "in court," apparently meaning the highest levels of the administration.

Generally, the source familiar with LeMay's thinking said he expected "no radical changes" when the bluff, vigorous, 54-year-old general takes over from retiring General Thomas D. White July 1.

LeMay has been vice chief under White for four years, the source noted, and thus has worked with White in developing the policies and practices now in effect.

But where White was an appointee of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, LeMay is President Kennedy's choice.

Court Ruling Favors New Tax At Midland

Beaver County Judge Robert McCreary Monday afternoon overruled objections to the Midland occupation tax and dismissed a case in equity of several non-resident employes of the borough.

The opinion, 15 pages long, was termed a final definitive order of the court enbanc for the purpose of appeal.

The $10 a year occupation tax was adopted by Midland Council Feb. 23. It goes into effect June 1 and preparations for its collection are being made with employers.

Atty. R. Clifton Hood of Beaver Falls, representing the plaintiffs, said following a ruling of April 28 that it would likely be appealed to the Pennsylvania State Superior Court but not until the court gave its final opinion.

Atty. Robert Masters, borough solicitor, represented the borough during hearings. Testimony in the case in equity was held April 25 and continued to Monday. The tax is designed to produce $60,000 annually.

Funeral Set For Man Shot In Holdup

Florida Gas Station Operator Slays Ex-City Resident

Services will be held Thursday afternoon in Midland for a former East Liverpool man who was wounded fatally in an attempted holdup of a Tampa (Fla.) service station Thursday night.

The Associated Press said police in the Florida city reported William Edward Drumm Jr., 31, was shot when he approached Alfonso Pierce, 54, night manager of a service station, and announced his intentions of staging a holdup.

Instead of putting his hands in the air as Drumm ordered, Pierce went for his pocket, drew his own weapon and fired three shots. Drumm's body was found several hours later by police on the floor of a house trailer, the AP reported. He had been shot in the chest.

The Florida police are holding Vernon Page, 18, Drumm's companion, on a charge of attempted robbery. They said Page admitted driving Drumm's car in the holdup attempt. Police here said Page also may be a former local resident.

Officers in Tampa said Pierce shot another gunman during a holdup attempt several months ago. The man recovered and now is awaiting trial.

East Liverpool police said Drumm was wanted for parole violation. They said they had an order to pick him up for violation of his parole on an auto theft charge.

Sheriff Russell Van Fossan's office said Drumm also was returned to prison in August 1959 as a parole violator.

Police said Drumm's last known local address was W. 8th St. Officers said when he left East Liverpool, he resided in Beaver Falls but they did not know for how long. He apparently had been liv-

Plus New Economic Tools

Kennedy To Seek More Space And Defense Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is about to ask Congress for a big boost in space and defense spending, plus a modest new set of economic tools to try to curtail hard-core unemployment.

The word moderate is one most frequently heard to describe the plans the President is drafting to send to Congress in the next few days in a new economic message. The cost may run to around $1 billion.

Kennedy is reported to have overruled some key advisers who advocated a broad public works program and other non-military spending proposals aimed at curbing unemployment.

Instead, the President is said to have decided that, with business conditions improving, emphasis on speeding U.S. efforts to beat the Soviets in putting a man on the moon and strengthening the nation's defenses is more urgent and politically feasible. This program, too, will create jobs.

This is what he is likely to recommend to Congress:

Unemployment compensation standards. The states would have to meet these federal standards in raising the amount and duration of benefits. Congress always has resisted such proposals, but in the past two recessions it has

Probe Opens; Blast Kills 9 And Hurts 6

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP) — Investigators today probed the ruins of two buildings at a rocket fuel plant for clues to the cause of an explosion which killed nine workmen and injured six.

Meanwhile, funeral arrangements were made for the victims whose charred and dismembered bodies were recovered after a seven-hour fire touched off by the blast had burned out late Monday. Three of the nine were West Virginians.

There was no official estimate of damage to the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, operated by Hercules Powder Co. of Wilmington, Del., for the Navy. But one observer described the explosion site as "a big black hole in the ground."

The laborator is at Rocket Center, W. Va., just across the Potomac River from Cumberland, Md. It makes solid fuel which has been used in the third and last stages of rockets firing satellites into space.

The explosion did not involve $5 million facilities for work on the polaris, the Navy's guided missile launched from submarines.

The two buildings leveled were about the size of ordinary homes. In one, casting powder for propellant systems was poured into molds. In the other, missile motors underwent temperature tests. It was not immediately determined in which building the explosion occurred.

Everyone working in the two buildings was killed. They were Howard D. Dean, 22, Romney, W. Va., Michael R. Evick, 24, LaVale, Md., George R. Geiger, 25, Cumberland, Charles R. Getson, Lonaconing, Md., David L. Kenney, 26, LaVale, Robert A. Whipp, 57, Keyser, W. Va., Kenneth D. Young, 25, of Ridgeley, W. Va., Herman C. Wilson, 63, Frostburg, Md., and Charles J. Isner, 41, Cumberland.

They were filed by Carl Peters, a science teacher at Wells High School for four years, and Mrs. Marguerite Walters, a fourth grade instructor at Jefferson School for two years.

The resignations are effective at the end of the present school term, Supt. Robert H. Hall reported.

The board also employed two new teachers, Mrs. Freda Louise Garrison and Miss Patricia Ann Rohanna. They are unassigned.

The board also accepted the resignation of Robert G. Lindsey Jr., as an assistant superintendent. Lindsey, who announced earlier, will become superintendent of Brooke County schools July 1.

The board has received about three applicants for the vacancy created by Lindsey's resignation but has not named his successor.

In other business, the board approved action extending by 30 minutes the school day for the 1961-62 term for Weir High School pupils, due to overcrowded classroom conditions. The board approved a seven-class period schedule, instead of the present six periods. School will begin at 8 and end at 3:30 under the new plan, with a 35-minute period for lunch.

The board approved the recommendation of the Agricultural Extension Service of West Virginia University for employment of Mrs. Ruth McPherson of Pughtown as County 4-H Club agent.

Weir High Principal Crawford Cameron was authorized to attend a reading institute in Detroit June 26-30. The Weir High Band was given approval to participate in a Memorial Day service Tuesday.

The board received a report on canvassing of the votes cast in last week's special election on a $5,283,000 school bond issue. There were no changes noted in the canvass completed Monday by County Court. The issue was approved.

The board also received final approval from the State School Board of Finance on purchase earlier of several school buses.

Girl Scout Council Gives Awards

Three members of the East Liverpool Area Girl Scout Council received awards at the meeting of the group Monday night at the Little House in Dixonville.

The "Thanks Badge" for outstanding service was presented to Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Ogilvie and Miss Auld. This recognition, the highest award for scout adults, goes to any adult, volunteer or professional, who has given unusual service to the scout program.

The first award was made 11 years ago when the late Mrs. J. A. Bryan was honored for her contributions to the local program. Others who have received the honor are Mrs. Perce Blake, Mrs. Ruth Sprouse, Mrs. Dan Henderson and the late Mrs. Albert Pittenger.

Mrs. Porter is an early member of the organization and, as permanent chairman of Camp Echo Dell, she has contributed hours of service in developing and expanding the facilities of the camp. With the addition of new cabins and latrines, the camp will be opened this summer for the first time as a troop camp site, with organized camping arranged by the council.

Mrs. Ogilvie, who also joined the council in its early years, has served as a commissioner. During her last term as president, she organized and successfully launched the neighborhood association plan, as the group realized through a survey that it was too large to depend upon one central governing body. The East Liverpool Area is presently divided into 8 neighborhoods, each under a chairman, with the assistance of a service team.

Miss Auld, a member of the original steering committee, who organized the local council, has served two terms as commissioner. She has headed a number of functional committees during her 18 years of service and at present is treasurer, a post she has held for two years.

Certificates of appreciation were presented Mrs. Fred Lawrence and Mrs. B. E. Warner, council members, who are moving to other communities in the near future.

Mrs. Lawrence, chairman of office and staff, served as membership - nominating committee chairman prior to this year. She also worked as a member of the program committee.

Mrs. Warner, who recently resigned as camp chairman, a position she held for the past two terms, is former secretary for the group.

Mrs. Beatty made the presentations, following an explanation of the awards and a tribute given by Mrs. Henderson, field director.

Mrs. Joseph Prager, training chairman, screened a film-strip, "Highlights of the Program Survey, Part 2." She was assisted by Mrs. Donald Ogilvie, secretary; Mrs. Arthur Eddy, Downtown Neighborhood chairman, and Mrs. Henderson. The film concerned pending program trends.

Plans were made for a clean-up session Saturday from 10 to 2:30 at the Echo Dell Camp. A chilli cook-out will be featured.

A training session for Senior Camp is scheduled June 5 also at Echo Dell. Mrs. Helen Morgan, director, said the time is from 10-2:30.

Next meeting is June 26 at Dixonville.

The board approved a seven-class period schedule, instead of the present six periods. School will begin at 8 and end at 3:30 under the new plan, with a 35-minute period for lunch.

The board approved the recommendation of the Agricultural Extension Service of West Virginia University for employment of Mrs. Ruth McPherson of Pughtown as County 4-H Club agent.

Weir High Principal Crawford Cameron was authorized to attend a reading institute in Detroit June 26-30. The Weir High Band was given approval to participate in a Memorial Day service Tuesday.

Give Southern Moderates A Voice

If our forefathers had brought the Negro here to test the society they were building they couldn't have devised a harsher challenge.

It came close to destroying the Union a century ago. It is as close to producing a disaster now as any American wants it to get.

All it would take to flick a spark into the dry tinder of hostility would be one shot fired in anger and one retaliatory volley while southerners and federal marshals are facing each other in a hot spot like Montgomery, Ala.

Let no one delude himself with the happy thought that Americans love one another so much they could not carry on internecine warfare. They love one another no more than they loved one another when brother fought brother a century ago.

Unthinkable for Americans to get that angry in the sixth decade of the 20th century? Of course it is.

BUT THERE had better be clear realization in a hurry that the United States has been built on the proposition that men have dignity. Most Americans want it this way, including Americans in states that historically have treated Negroes as second-class citizens. It is a moral dilemma, as the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., one of the leaders of the Negroes in the current crisis, says it is. Either we deal with it wisely, or our claim to moral leadership in a world of mostly colored human beings will be empty.

It is not the most respected citizens of southern states who are flouting the Constitution and denying the precepts of the religions they profess to follow.

The trouble is caused by a type of citizen most likely to be found in movements like the Ku Klux Klan and among the followers of rabble-rousing southern politicians who inflame the race issue for selfish advantage.

There is nothing about the issue of "integration" that men and women of good will could not settle. They could settle it by rejecting it as an issue, as has been settled in the 50th state — Hawaii. Or they could settle it as it has been settled in non-southern states — not perfectly but with hope of eventual perfection.

ONE THING is sure. It will not be settled by recalcitrant southerners on their own initiative, in their own way, in their own time. Their claim that everything would be fine if everybody would let them live in peace is absurd. They would restore the segregationist status quo and never make a move to settle anything.

Two things are sure. It will not be settled as long as rabble-rousing southern politicians continue to run for office and stay in office on a platform of blind resistance to all proposals for settlement.

Three things are sure. It will not be settled by armed men marching up and down in areas of extreme racial tension. One shot could blow the country's overtaxed composure sky-high.

How then can it be settled? This might not work, but how about a White House commission of religious leaders to issue a moral demand for American brotherhood—a commission totally free of the kind of lawyers and politicians who now are well into a second century of agitation against the proposition that all men are created equal under God and declared to be equal under the Constitution of the United States?

Such a position would not stop Kluxers and politicians who are trying to get real trouble started, but it might call to their senses the people of southern states who are letting themselves be misrepresented by extremists.

They exist in Montgomery as surely as they existed in Little Rock. But they lack a voice.

Help Beat The Big Bass Drum

In conjunction with national Salvation Army Week, we salute the work being done by the Citadel here.

These are among the services offered by the "Army" in one form or another — spiritual guidance, character building, disaster and emergency help, homes and hospital care for unwed mothers, meals and lodgings for transients, summer camps, family welfare work, hospital and rest visitations, girls' and boys' clubs and bands, mothers' clubs and missionary movements.

To maintain and extend its diverse services in the community, the Salvation Army needs help in "beating the drum". You can do this in a number of ways. You can serve as volunteers in the various programs which the Army operates for both children and adults. You can give your time to advisory boards and auxiliaries.

"Beating the big bass drum" — an Army tradition — is more than a one-man job in East Liverpool or any other community. Salvation Army Week is an appropriate time to show the Citadel here how much you want to help.

Changing The Face Of The Land

This is National Highway Week, and if its backers could take all of us aloft in airplanes to see what they're talking about we would get the message faster.

They're talking about something that has changed the face of the land and will continue to change it for many years to come—modern high-speed roads.

The roads have made it possible for millions of Americans to live in cities without being cliff dwellers. They have unlocked the potentialities of the metropolitan areas that now contain the bulk of the nation's population—what sociologists call "urban sprawl" but what its beneficiaries call "modern living."

There are some oddities about all this, as there are about all major elements in our complex 20th century lives. The cost, for example. Obviously, modern highways cost a great deal of money. But not so obviously they are being paid for in large part from the savings they make possible.

Automobiles run more efficiently and last longer on modern highways. They are involved in fewer accidents. Commercial vehicles make more money for their operators. Pleasure vehicles can be operated at less cost. However much the modern highways cost, the savings they make possible will offset the cost in the long run. Modern highways are sound investments.

As they continue to change the face of the land—a fact clearest to those who view them from the air—they add directly to the value of abutting property. This increment offsets and eventually will exceed the subtraction from tax duplicates of land used in highway rights of way. Highways become sound investments for property owners as well as vehicle operators.

Oriental Luster Of Cairo Now Dimmed

By Joe Alex Morris Jr.

Cairo, the biggest city in Africa, was jarred by a palace revolution 10 years ago. For better and for worse, things have never been the same since.

Many people look back fondly to Cairo of the old royal days. They tend to forget the smells and the blazing sun and remember it as a city of romance, of Oriental splendor, a glittering society and a royal court fabulous for its profligate spending.

All of these things Cairo was. But this was the tip of the iceberg. Submerged and forgotten were the squalor and poverty, the political discontent.

Today, the cosmopolitan glitter, the Oriental luster of prerevolutionary Cairo is being dimmed by the dreary egalitarianism of a new regime.

True, the pyramids are still there and the tourists don't seem to notice the change but somehow the old romance just isn't there any more. Or so the story goes.

WHAT WAS IT like, back in the old days? On a typical day about this time of the year a decade ago, notable events in the Egyptian capital might have included the following:

King Farouk, his satraps and the social set would be busy preparing to move up to Alexandria for the summer season. The British ambassador might be holding a garden party on his spacious lawn, which extended down to the banks of the Nile.

Across the river at Cairo University, the students would be planning a new strike and political demonstration.

Down at Shepheard's Hotel, that magnificent bastion dedicated to colonial supremacy, Englishmen would be drinking at the bar and perhaps complaining about an upstart servant who had just demanded a raise to $12 per month.

Today, none of this could happen. King Farouk is in exile. Shepheard's was burned down by mobs and has been replaced by a parking lot where typsies and freaks hold impromptu carnivals.

The university students have found it most unwise to demonstrate against the new military regime, and the British ambassador's lawn has been rudely truncated and cut off from the Nile by a new highway.

The city has changed in 10 years, and old Cairo hands going back for the first time would be well advised to get a new street map. The old royal names have disappeared from streets and squares, replaced by "Liberation Square" and "26th of July Street" and so on.

THE OLD PALACES have become government ministerial offices, and two were even changed into night clubs.

The proud Gezira Sporting Club, once the bastion of the wealthy and the foreigners, has been humbly whitteled down by the New Order to make room for new (and less suspect?) clubs which cater to the New Class.

The Old Shepheard's is gone but tourists flock in ever greater numbers to a New Shepheard's on the Nile, and to a gaudy, American-style Hilton next to it. There are new bridges, new roads which end abruptly outside the city limits, new factories and everywhere a new image.

This is the face of Gamal Abdel Nasser, ex-colonel, neutralist, and president of the United Arab Republic. Quite literally, there is hardly a block in this sprawling metropolis where the walls are not plastered with his picture.

Nasser by himself, Nasser with Ghana's Kwame Knrumah, with Yugoslavia's Tito, Pakinstan's Ayoub Khan, or one of a dozen others.

But this is as much the surface of Cairo life as was the glitter of the old regime. The vast majority of the city's three million inhabitants are still clothed either in rags or riches and Mr. Nasser's sincere desire to better the lot of the little man has hardly scratched the surface of the mass misery.

What has changed then, aside from surface appearances? There is a new ruling class, and the old "pashas" and "beys" no longer use their titles. But they still wear expensive clothes and are chauffered about in their large American cars.

One could conclude that very little has changed underneath the surface.

But try and convince an old Cairo hand of this, and you're in for a long argument full of wisty recollections of the good old days when the British ambassador could stroll down to the banks of the Nile with his tea guests.

An Imponderable

By Truman Twill

This question isn't going to be answered satisfactorily here because it never has been answered satisfactorily anywhere:

Do women choose clothes with a view to pleasing men or to impressing other women?

I never have had any doubt about the answer myself, because it always has been plain to me that women have nothing in mind when choosing their clothes except the appraisal of other women. If the men were impressed favorably in the bargain, well and good and cheers all around. But if men would have preferred something else and women were impressed, all that counts is the women.

This has been confirmed as far as I'm concerned by the vagaries of fashions for women, which have nothing to do with that many wild changes in the likings of men. As a man, I can testify that sometimes we like new fashions and sometimes we don't, but if we don't like 'em no one pays any attention to us as long as women keep giving one another the long look.

A few years ago when women were wearing those flour bags with holes punched for the head and arms, men didn't have a good word to say for the monstrosities. But what finally killed the ugly fashion was not the disapproval of men but the disapproval of women, who realized there was no future for them in flour bags.

Right now, as far as men are concerned, skirts are too darned short. Not that men of all ages do not enjoy looking at women's legs if they are shapely but that men are made uncomfortable by the squirming and twisting of women trying to do the impossible, which is to preserve modesty in a skirt that hikes up when they sit down.

Only a small fraction of women have mastered the art of sitting in a short skirt without creating cackling suspense while everybody in the vicinity wonders how the project is going to to turn out. Our First Lady, by the way, is good at it. Turns her knees sideways, like so—tight together.

But even there, men could wish that Mrs. Kennedy's skirts were longer. Men old enough to remember the ups and downs of fashions remember that conditions were best, all things considered, when skirts reached below the knee. This is because more than half the women on earth have legs that should blush unseen and the other half will always find a way to show their legs anyway.

Men prefer the women they like to look comfortable in their clothes and that goes for dress-up cloths, as well as dress-down outfits. Men have reservations about any style that confronts the women they like with a problem, whether it's a skirt too short, a bustle, a dress that sublimates what is best, or one that exaggerates what is worst.

If women dressed to please men, comfort would be their first consideration. It is beyond dispute, therefore, that women must dress to impress other women, or at the very least to measure up to the current level of fashion, so as not to be conspicuously out of step. Otherwise, they wouldn't put up with too-short skirts.

However, as pointed out at the beginning, the question isn't going to be answered satisfactorily in a newspaper column or anywhere else. It's one of the imponderables.

Do women choose clothes with a view to pleasing men to impressing other women?

The Neutrality Puzzle

Can Laos Become A 'Pilot Model'?

GENEVA

Now that the Laos conference is underway, the world should begin to find out before very long whether the great central, historic purpose for which 14 nations have gathered in Geneva can be realized.

That historic purpose is not so simple as merely arranging peace or armistice, or a permanent cease-fire in Laos.

Much broader than that, the great powers, and their supporters and go-betweens, have come to Geneva to try to find an answer to a question on which the fate of much more than Laos may well hang.

The question is this: Can the Communist half of the world agree with the non-Communist powers on a formula for "neutrality" for small states which both sides would accept as genuine and both would pledge to maintain and support?

If Laos can become a sort of "pilot model" of defined and accepted neutrality, agreed by East and West, then this Geneva conference may turn out to be much more historic and far-reaching than most of the meetings which have been held in this city of lost hopes.

Although "Austrian neutrality" is often held up in discussion here as an example of East-West agreement on the issue, the example does not really apply because of the vast difference in the nature of the two problems.

AUSTRIA, in the middle of Europe, was a country with a stable, anti-Communist government which wanted nothing but a Russian withdrawal from its territory, in return for which it was perfectly willing to ensure its own "neutrality" between East and West.

Laos is a small jungle land of two million population, so far not occupied by any of the great powers, with a notoriously unstable political history and in a pathetic state of underdevelopment.

Where in the case of Austria it was a matter of withdrawing military forces of the great powers and letting Austria pledge her own neutrality through a peace treaty, the reverse is the problem in Laos.

It is to keep opposing great power military forces out of the country, and then agree from the outside to maintain Laos as a neutral and independent state. What Austria could do for itself, the great powers are trying to agree to do for Laos.

It is not going to be a simple exercise. Semantics alone tend to defeat agreement—because neither the United States nor the Soviet Union really means the same thing when it uses the word "neutrality," and certainly there is not much trust on either side in the intentions of the other at this conference.

Yet there are good logical grounds for concluding that there is a basic mutual interest in both sides in a truly neutral Laos. From the standpoint of the United States, there is certainly no practical, political or strategic interest in armed intervention by American forces in a jungle land with no access by sea.

THE RUSSIAN interest in a "neutral" Laos is more difficult to reason or ascertain but in the French view it has its roots in Russian-Chinese rivalry.

The Russians do not want to see a further expansion of Chinese suzereignty, the French thesis runs, and accordingly it is to Russia's interest to get agreement here in Geneva on a neutral Laos in order to keep the Chinese out.

Whether this presumed conflict of Russian and Chinese interests in the Laos question will emerge at this conference remains to be seen.

About all that can be said for the thesis is that it has a certain validity, and there is very little for the western powers to go on here at Geneva but hopeful thesis.

The object of the Geneva exercise, therefore, is first to define a "status of neutrality" for Laos; second, to devise some international machinery to supervise, report and in effect "police" that neutrality against interference from the outside, and by so doing to remove Laos from the area of great-power conflict.

THERE REMAINS, of course, the vital question of what sort of a government Laos is to have. If the country goes Communist from inside, what good is a "neutrality agreement."

The only answer is the fact that there seems to be no alternative in this situation but to try neutrality, and hope that it works.

Quiet Intervention

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

President Kennedy's only public statement so far on the Alabama race riots gave the attorney general, Robert Kennedy, sweeping power to "take all necessary steps" to handle the situation.

But, for the first time in American history, the attorney general happens to be the President's brother. Robert Kennedy has kept the President informed of every step taken.

Thus President Kennedy, more than might ordinarily be the case with some other chief executive and his attorney general, must bear responsibility for what his attorney general does.

So, if Southern Democrats in Congress or Southern politicians in general get sore at Robert Kennedy, they must get equally peeved at the President.

Nevertheless the President—by letting his brother do most of the talking and being fairly mild himself in his only statement—avoids angering Southerners in the way he might if he were personally and publicly emphatic.

He has intervened directly, but quietly. For instance, in telephoning Alabama officials.

Still, the question he faces—whether or not to speak out more forcefully—is both psychological and political.

Many persons felt in 1957 that if President Dwight D. Eisenhower had spoken out more forcefully the Little Rock school riots might have been avoided.

On July 17 that year he told a news conference:

"I can't imagine any set of circumstances that would ever induce me to send federal troops into any area to enforce orders of a federal court, because I believe that common sense of America will never require it."

But a federal court had ordered integration of a Little Rock school and, within six weeks after Eisenhower deplored the thought of using troops, Gov. Orval Faubus called out the Arkansas National Guard to block integration.

In the end, Eisenhower had to do exactly what he had said he couldn't imagine doing: He sent federal troops into Little Rock to squelch Faubus.

It is possible that if Eisenhower had been a lot tougher at that July 17 news conference, Faubus might have been discouraged from doing what he did.

It is also possible that if Kennedy had spoken out far more forcefully after the first Alabama riot—a riot against whites and Negroes riding buses to test the state's segregation laws — he might have chilled the mobs' subsequent viciousness.

The President apparently felt that the sweeping power he gave his brother would have the same psychological effect as if he himself had said more.

As it turned out, it didn't. The attorney general has sent hundreds of U. S. marshals into Alabama to be sure the bus riders are protected.

This may turn the trick. If the President had taken a more vigorous position, he undoubtedly would have antagonized a number of Southern Democrats at a time when he needs their help to pass important legislation in Congress.

Hidden Wealth

Peruvian leaders are mapping an ambitious campaign to tap the hidden resources of their rugged Andean heartland and the verdant slopes beyond.

The program is called Peru-via, or Peru in Motion. Its goal is to raise the general standard of living by a series of interlocking projects to promote agriculture industry, stock raising and forestry.

The first area chosen for development reaches east of Lima, the capital, across the mountains into the long-neglected interior. There, new farm and pastoral communities are to be created, new roads and railway links built, and hydroelectric works installed.

South American frontiersmen face even tougher handicaps in terrain and climate than the pioneers who settled the open plains of the United States.

Great mountain ranges, rising to peaks above 20,000 feet, form a massive central barrier extending north and south throughout Peru's 1,400-mile length. In steep, isolated valleys live most of the pure-blooded Indians who make up some 40 per cent of the nation's estimated 10,800,000 population. Their lives have changed little since Inca times.

Give Southern Moderates A Voice

If our forefathers had brought the Negro here to test the society they were building they couldn't have devised a harsher challenge.

It came close to destroying the Union a century ago. It is as close to producing a disaster now as any American wants it to get.

All it would take to flick a spark into the dry tinder of hostility would be one shot fired in anger and one retaliatory volley while southerners and federal marshals are facing each other in a hot spot like Montgomery, Ala.

Let no one delude himself with the happy thought that Americans love one another so much they could not carry on internecine warfare. They love one another no more than they loved one another when brother fought brother a century ago.

Unthinkable for Americans to get that angry in the sixth decade of the 20th century? Of course it is.

BUT THERE had better be clear realization in a hurry that the United States has been built on the proposition that men have dignity. Most Americans want it this way, including Americans in states that historically have treated Negroes as second-class citizens. It is a moral dilemma, as the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., one of the leaders of the Negroes in the current crisis, says it is. Either we deal with it wisely, or our claim to moral leadership in a world of mostly colored human beings will be empty.

It is not the most respected citizens of southern states who are flouting the Constitution and denying the precepts of the religions they profess to follow.

The trouble is caused by a type of citizen most likely to be found in movements like the Ku Klux Klan and among the followers of rabble-rousing southern politicians who inflame the race issue for selfish advantage.

There is nothing about the issue of "integration" that men and women of good will could not settle. They could settle it by rejecting it as an issue, as has been settled in the 50th state — Hawaii. Or they could settle it as it has been settled in non-southern states — not perfectly but with hope of eventual perfection.

ONE THING is sure. It will not be settled by recalcitrant southerners on their own initiative, in their own way, in their own time. Their claim that everything would be fine if everybody would let them live in peace is absurd. They would restore the segregationist status quo and never make a move to settle anything.

Two things are sure. It will not be settled as long as rabble-rousing southern politicians continue to run for office and stay in office on a platform of blind resistance to all proposals for settlement.

Three things are sure. It will not be settled by armed men marching up and down in areas of extreme racial tension. One shot could blow the country's overtaxed composure sky-high.

How then can it be settled? This might not work, but how about a White House commission of religious leaders to issue a moral demand for American brotherhood—a commission totally free of the kind of lawyers and politicians who now are well into a second century of agitation against the proposition that all men are created equal under God and declared to be equal under the Constitution of the United States?

Such a position would not stop Kluxers and politicians who are trying to get real trouble started, but it might call to their senses the people of southern states who are letting themselves be misrepresented by extremists.

They exist in Montgomery as surely as they existed in Little Rock. But they lack a voice.

Help Beat The Big Bass Drum

In conjunction with "national Salvation Army Week, we salute the work being done by the Citadel here.

These are among the services offered by the "Army" in one form or another — spiritual guidance, character building, disaster and emergency help, homes and hospital care for unwed mothers, meals and lodgings for transients, summer camps, family welfare work, hospital and rest visitations, girls' and boys' clubs and bands, mothers' clubs and missionary movements.

To maintain and extend its diverse services in the community, the Salvation Army needs help in "beating the drum". You can do this in a number of ways. You can serve as volunteers in the various programs which the Army operates for both children and adults. You can give your time to advisory boards and auxiliaries.

"Beating the big bass drum" — an Army tradition — is more than a one-man job in East Liverpool or any other community. Salvation Army Week is an appropriate time to show the Citadel here how much you want to help.

Changing The Face Of The Land

This is National Highway Week, and if its backers could take all of us aloft in airplanes to see what they're talking about we would get the message faster.

They're talking about something that has changed the face of the land and will continue to change it for many years to come—modern high-speed roads.

The roads have made it possible for millions of Americans to live in cities without being cliff dwellers. They have unlocked the potentialities of the metropolitan areas that now contain the bulk of the nation's population—what sociologists call "urban sprawl" but what its beneficiaries call "modern living."

There are some oddities about all this, as there are about all major elements in our complex 20th century lives. The cost, for example. Obviously, modern highways cost a great deal of money. But not so obviously they are being paid for in large part from the savings they make possible.

Automobiles run more efficiently and last longer on modern highways. They are involved in fewer accidents. Commercial vehicles make more money for their operators. Pleasure vehicles can be operated at less cost. However much the modern highways cost, the savings they make possible will offset the cost in the long run. Modern highways are sound investments.

As they continue to change the face of the land—a fact clearest to those who view them from the air—they add directly to the value of abutting property. This increment offsets and eventually will exceed the subtraction from tax duplicates of land used in highway rights of way. Highways become sound investments for property owners as well as vehicle operators.

This investment idea is the theme of National Highway Week. If only its backers could take everybody upstairs in an airplane to see the change for the better. . .

Even the doubters would be impressed!

A few years ago when women were wearing those flour bags with holes punched for the head and arms, men didn't have a good word to say for the monstrosities. But what finally killed the ugly fashion was not the disapproval of men but the disapproval of women, who realized there was no future for them in flour bags.

Right now, as far as men are concerned, skirts are too darned short. Not that men of all ages do not enjoy looking at women's legs if they are shapely but that men are made uncomfortable by the squirming and twisting of women trying to do the impossible, which is to preserve modesty in a skirt that hikes up when they sit down.

Only a small fraction of women have mastered the art of sitting in a short skirt without creating cackling suspense while everybody in the vicinity wonders how the project is going to to turn out. Our First Lady, by the way, is good at it. Turns her knees sideways, like so—tight together.

But even there, men could wish that Mrs. Kennedy's skirts were longer. Men old enough to remember the ups and downs of fashions remember that conditions were best, all things considered, when skirts reached below the knee. This is because more than half the women on earth have legs that should blush unseen and the other half will always find a way to show their legs anyway.

Men prefer the women they like to look comfortable in their clothes and that goes for dress-up cloths, as well as dress-down outfits. Men have reservations about any style that confronts the women they like with a problem, whether it's a skirt too short, a bustle, a dress that sublimates what is best, or one that exaggerates what is worst.

If women dressed to please men, comfort would be their first consideration. It is beyond dispute, therefore, that women must dress to impress other women, or at the very least to measure up to the current level of fashion, so as not to be conspicuously out of step. Otherwise, they wouldn't put up with too-short skirts.

However, as pointed out at the beginning, the question isn't going to be answered satisfactorily anywhere. It's one of the imponderables.

Do women choose clothes with a view to pleasing men to impressing other women?

The Neutrality Puzzle

By Don Cook

Can Laos Become A 'Pilot Model'?

GENEVA

Now that the Laos conference is underway, the world should begin to find out before very long whether the great central, historic purpose for which 14 nations have gathered in Geneva can be realized.

That historic purpose is not so simple as merely arranging peace or armistice, or a permanent cease-fire in Laos.

Much broader than that, the great powers, and their supporters and go-betweens, have come to Geneva to try to find an answer to a question on which the fate of much more than Laos may well hang.

The question is this: Can the Communist half of the world agree with the non-Communist powers on a formula for "neutrality" for small states which both sides would accept as genuine and both would pledge to maintain and support?

If Laos can become a sort of "pilot model" of defined and accepted neutrality, agreed by East and West, then this Geneva conference may turn out to be much more historic and far-reaching than most of the meetings which have been held in this city of lost hopes.

Although "Austrian neutrality" is often held up in discussion here as an example of East-West agreement on the issue, the example does not really apply because of the vast difference in the nature of the two problems.

AUSTRIA, in the middle of Europe, was a country with a stable, anti-Communist government which wanted nothing but a Russian withdrawal from its territory, in return for which it was perfectly willing to ensure its own "neutrality" between East and West.

Laos is a small jungle land of two million population, so far not occupied by any of the great powers, with a notoriously unstable political history and in a pathetic state of underdevelopment.

Where in the case of Austria it was a matter of withdrawing military forces of the great powers and letting Austria pledge her own neutrality through a peace treaty, the reverse is the problem in Laos.

It is to keep opposing great power military forces out of the country, and then agree from the outside to maintain Laos as a neutral and independent state. What Austria could do for itself, the great powers are trying to agree to do for Laos.

It is not going to be a simple exercise. Semantics alone tend to defeat agreement—because neither the United States nor the Soviet Union really means the same thing when it uses the word "neutrality," and certainly there is not much trust on either side in the intentions of the other at this conference.

Yet there are good logical grounds for concluding that there is a basic mutual interest in both sides in a truly neutral Laos. From the standpoint of the United States, there is certainly no practical, political or strategic interest in armed intervention by American forces in a jungle land with no access by sea.

THE RUSSIAN interest in a "neutral" Laos is more difficult to reason or ascertain but in the French view it has its roots in Russian-Chinese rivalry.

The Russians do not want to see a further expansion of Chinese suzereignty, the French thesis runs, and accordingly it is to Russia's interest to get agreement here in Geneva on a neutral Laos in order to keep the Chinese out.

Whether this presumed conflict of Russian and Chinese interests in the Laos question will emerge at this conference remains to be seen.

About all that can be said for the thesis is that it has a certain validity, and there is very little for the western powers to go on here at Geneva but hopeful thesis.

The object of the Geneva exercise, therefore, is first to define a "status of neutrality" for Laos; second, to devise some international machinery to supervise, report and in effect "police" that neutrality against interference from the outside, and by so doing to remove Laos from the area of great-power conflict.

THERE REMAINS, of course, the vital question of what sort of a government Laos is to have. If the country goes Communist from inside, what good is a "neutrality agreement."

The only answer is the fact that there seems to be no alternative in this situation but to try neutrality, and hope that it works.

Quiet Intervention

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

President Kennedy's only public statement so far on the Alabama race riots gave the attorney general, Robert Kennedy, sweeping power to "take all necessary steps" to handle the situation.

But, for the first time in American history, the attorney general happens to be the President's brother. Robert Kennedy has kept the President informed of every step taken.

Thus President Kennedy, more than might ordinarily be the case with some other chief executive and his attorney general, must bear responsibility for what his attorney general does.

So, if Southern Democrats in Congress or Southern politicians in general get sore at Robert Kennedy, they must get equally peeved at the President.

Nevertheless the President—by letting his brother do most of the talking and being fairly mild himself in his only statement—avoids angering Southerners in the way he might if he were personally and publicly emphatic.

He has intervened directly, but quietly. For instance, in telephoning Alabama officials.

Still, the question he faces—whether or not to speak out more forcefully—is both psychological and political.

Many persons felt in 1957 that if President Dwight D. Eisenhower had spoken out more forcefully the Little Rock school riots might have been avoided.

On July 17 that year he told a news conference:

"I can't imagine any set of circumstances that would ever induce me to send federal troops into any area to enforce orders of a federal court, because I believe that common sense of America will never require it."

But a federal court had ordered integration of a Little Rock school and, within six weeks after Eisenhower deplored the thought of using troops, Gov. Orval Faubus called out the Arkansas National Guard to block integration.

In the end, Eisenhower had to do exactly what he had said he couldn't imagine doing: He sent federal troops into Little Rock to squelch Faubus.

It is possible that if Eisenhower had been a lot tougher at that July 17 news conference, Faubus might have been discouraged from doing what he did.

It is also possible that if Kennedy had spoken out far more forcefully after the first Alabama riot—a riot against whites and Negroes riding buses to test the state's segregation laws — he might have chilled the mobs' subsequent viciousness.

The President apparently felt that the sweeping power he gave his brother would have the same psychological effect as if he himself had said more.

As it turned out, it didn't. The attorney general has sent hundreds of U. S. marshals into Alabama to be sure the bus riders are protected.

This may turn the trick. If the President had taken a more vigorous position, he undoubtedly would have antagonized a number of Southern Democrats at a time when he needs their help to pass important legislation in Congress.

Hidden Wealth

Peruvian leaders are mapping an ambitious campaign to tap the hidden resources of their rugged Andean heartland and the verdant slopes beyond.

The program is called Peru-via, or Peru in Motion. Its goal is to raise the general standard of living by a series of interlocking projects to promote agriculture industry, stock raising and forestry.

The first area chosen for development reaches east of Lima, the capital, across the mountains into the long-neglected interior. There, new farm and pastoral communities are to be created, new roads and railway links built, and hydroelectric works installed.

South American frontiersmen face even tougher handicaps in terrain and climate than the pioneers who settled the open plains of the United States.

Great mountain ranges, rising to peaks above 20,000 feet, form a massive central barrier extending north and south throughout Peru's 1,400-mile length. In steep, isolated valleys live most of the pure-blooded Indians who make up some 40 per cent of the nation's estimated 10,800,000 population. Their lives have changed little since Inca times.

Summer kindergarten classes will be held at Calcutta and Rogers Schools and possibly at West Point if enrollment warrants.

Makeup and remedial courses will be held at the Public School under the direction of Urban Petros, elementary supervisor.

History, mathematics, English and advanced driver training courses will be offered at the high school. High school classes will begin June 12, while kindergarten and Public School courses are tentatively set to begin June 19.

Extra teaching assignments and salaries were approved for Jack O'Rourke, football, wrestling and track coach; Thomas McCall, basketball and head baseball coach; Orlando Giovanatto, assistant coach.

Harry West, English department head, dramatics and Latin program; Mrs. June McBane, mathematics department head and algebra program; Mrs. Marcia Manning, high school publications advisor; Walter Lineberry, Science department head, and Theodore Taylor, science co-ordinator for intermediate grades.

Use of the Public School athletic field was approved for authorized groups, with organizations within the school district receiving preference. Use of the baseball field will not be granted for Sundays, the board ruled.

Use of the gymnasium June 10 was granted for a professional wrestling match sponsored by the Boosters Club and a Midland organization.

Payment was authorized for a cafeteria survey recently conducted by a Youngstown woman advisor who found the general program favorable, but suggested some further attention on meeting teen-ager attitudes at the high school.

The board approved the lease-purchase of outdoor speakers at the high school and Public School to provide further sound coverage of the playground and adaptation to use as a public address system. The equipment will be included in the new intercom systems at the two schools.

The board awarded a contract to Robert Show of Cannons Mills for cleaning septic tanks at Calcutta, Public School and high school.

Jack Campbell, band director, was granted a two-week reduction in his 11-month contract to permit him to arrange further studies.

Next meeting is June 12.

Laos Parley Set To Chart Future Path

GENEVA (AP) — The East-West conference on Laos prepared today to chart its future course after a week of opening statements that showed the delegates deeply divided on the way to supervise neutrality in the Southeast Asian kingdom.

The conference must now decide whether to (1) split up in study committees, (2) go on debating points at issue in full sessions, or (3) recess until after the June 3 meeting in Vienna of President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The nations at the conference table are split roughly three ways on how the International Control Commission set up to police the cease-fire in Laos should function, both in checking the military situation and later in supervising the Laotian neutrality the conference is supposed to underwrite.

The Communist bloc wants to limit the commission's activities and subject it to vetos of just about everybody concerned. The West wants to extend its operation to every corner of the jungle kingdom and eliminate any veto restrictions.

India, chairman of the commission that also includes Poland and Canada, favors a middle position that would allow a veto but permit the filling of majority and minority reports. Neutral Burma and Cambodia support the Indian stand.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk had demanded that the commission be empowered to investigate truce violations without hindrance.

Council Gets Plan For Use Of Hall Area

SALINEVILLE — A recommendation to utilize the vacant storeroom area of the Village Hall for jail facilities, mayor's office and Council room and use the second floor for two apartments was taken under study by Council Monday night.

Police Chief Cleo Mellott, reporting on the need for repairs of the jail building at the rear of the Village Hall, suggested the present Council room and mayor's office on the second floor be removed to the vacant first floor—formerly rented by a grocery store — and jail cells be installed.

For revenue, the second floor could be converted to two apartments and rented, Mellott proposed. At present a music studio of Miss Myrtle Strabley is rented on the second floor.

Mellott, who is provided an apartment on the third floor, explained the proposal in a tour of the hall after Council meeting.

The chief also reported on police activities from April 24 to last night. He said he had patroled 2,390 miles, issued 11 warnings, made nine arrests, received five dog complaints and conducted 112 miscellaneous investigations.

Mellott said the auxiliary police discovered six business places with unlocked doors during night checks.

Councilman Orval Tolsen reported the village will not be able at present to provide bonds for the auxiliary police.

Fred Detchon, adjutant of American Legion Post 442, presented to the village six "Drive Carefully" metal signs to be erected at appropriate sites.

Mayor Kenneth Leishman expressed appreciation of the village administration for the Legion contributions.

Council agreed to instruct a McKinley Ave. property owner to provide adequate cover for an open well reported by Chief Mellott.

An E. Main St. woman was advised a drainage system will be required to eliminate surface water collected in an empty lot. She had explained a fence was about the property, but was told the water remained a hazard.

Pete Growall, street director, urged residents to place trash at the curb.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Jealousy A Problem Among Children

In a family of two or more children there is sure to be fighting and quarreling. Although no parent can hope never to see or hear such contention and strife, some things may be done to reduce them. Very early, even when the second child arrives, feelings of jealousy in the older child are sure to emerge. Inevitably, as the baby requires considerable care and wins a lot of attention and affection, the older child feels he is not getting all the attention he used to get and craves so much.

Dr. Garry Meyers

As these children grow older or more children are added, any one child may, from time to time, suppose he is not loved and wanted as much as some other child or children of the family. With feelings of jealousy, he is inclined to like the other child less, even to attack him with words or hands.

—:—

ALL SORTS OF situations arise as the children grow older, in which one child may strongly feel antagonistic toward a brother or sister. Then each child cherishes his own possessions while inclined to take or use those of a brother or sister, who will rise in self-defense.

Therefore, it is wise to try to lessen jealousies by finding ways to cause each child, as far as possible, to feel he is as worthy and important in the family as any other child there.

Strive to recognize personal ownership by each child and to train each child to respect this ownership. Often you will need to protect the possessions and rights of one child against the aggression of another.

Although some playthings will be common property, each child should have some things strictly his very own.

When the children reach the age of being able to do chores and bear responsibilities, see that these don't overlap.

WHEN, FOR example, two children, nine or 11, are assigned to do the dishes together, almost surely there will be quarreling. Instead, each child should do such a job alone, alternating from time to time. Jobs should be distributed equally.

Of course, you should expect considerable quarreling and fighting as normal. But when you can no longer stand it, or see that a person or property is endangered, act decisively, placing the responsibility on the aggressor, if you have apprehended him with your own eyes and ears.

Otherwise have no trial. Merely separate the "warriors" for an appreciable time, usually away from the rest of the family.

Henceforth, try harder to reduce the apparent causes of the quarreling. Strive, moreover, to cultivate positive enjoyments in the whole family.

My bulletins, "Quarreling and Fighting" and "Preventing and Reducing Jealousy," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Board Hires 2 In Beaver Local Staff

Two new teachers were employed and the summer education program approved by the Beaver Local Board of Education Monday night.

C. Robert Donaldson of East Liverpool was hired as a teacher at the Public School and Juanita Allford of West Point for the West Point School.

Summer kindergarten classes will be held at Calcutta and Rogers Schools and possibly at West Point if enrollment warrants.

Makeup and remedial courses will be held at the Public School under the direction of Urban Petros, elementary supervisor.

History, mathematics, English and advanced driver training courses will be offered at the high school. High school classes will begin June 12, while kindergarten and Public School courses are tentatively set to begin June 19.

Extra teaching assignments and salaries were approved for Jack O'Rourke, football, wrestling and track coach; Thomas McCall, basketball and head baseball coach; Orlando Giovanatto, assistant coach.

Harry West, English department head, dramatics and Latin program; Mrs. June McBane, mathematics department head and algebra program; Mrs. Marcia Manning, high school publications advisor; Walter Lineberry, Science department head, and Theodore Taylor, science co-ordinator for intermediate grades.

Use of the Public School athletic field was approved for authorized groups, with organizations within the school district receiving preference. Use of the baseball field will not be granted for Sundays, the board ruled.

Use of the gymnasium June 10 was granted for a professional wrestling match sponsored by the Boosters Club and a Midland organization.

Payment was authorized for a cafeteria survey recently conducted by a Youngstown woman advisor who found the general program favorable, but suggested some further attention on meeting teen-ager attitudes at the high school.

The board approved the lease-purchase of outdoor speakers at the high school and Public School to provide further sound coverage of the playground and adaptation to use as a public address system. The equipment will be included in the new intercom systems at the two schools.

The board awarded a contract to Robert Show of Cannons Mills for cleaning septic tanks at Calcutta, Public School and high school.

Jack Campbell, band director, was granted a two-week reduction in his 11-month contract to permit him to arrange further studies.

Next meeting is June 12.

Laos Parley Set To Chart Future Path

GENEVA (AP) — The East-West conference on Laos prepared today to chart its future course after a week of opening statements that showed the delegates deeply divided on the way to supervise neutrality in the Southeast Asian kingdom.

The conference must now decide whether to (1) split up in study committees, (2) go on debating points at issue in full sessions, or (3) recess until after the June 3 meeting in Vienna of President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The nations at the conference table are split roughly three ways on how the International Control Commission set up to police the cease-fire in Laos should function, both in checking the military situation and later in supervising the Laotian neutrality the conference is supposed to underwrite.

The Communist bloc wants to limit the commission's activities and subject it to vetos of just about everybody concerned. The West wants to extend its operation to every corner of the jungle kingdom and eliminate any veto restrictions.

India, chairman of the commission that also includes Poland and Canada, favors a middle position that would allow a veto but permit the filling of majority and minority reports. Neutral Burma and Cambodia support the Indian stand.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk had demanded that the commission be empowered to investigate truce violations without hindrance.

BOSTON (AP) — Plans for a marked 1,000-mile highway trail, which in 10 days' leisurely travel will take a tourist through more than 1,000 historic, scenic and recreational sites in New England, were announced today by the New England Hotel Association.

Council Gets Plan For Use Of Hall Area

SALINEVILLE — A recommendation to utilize the vacant storeroom area of the Village Hall for jail facilities, mayor's office and Council room and use the second floor for two apartments was taken under study by Council Monday night.

Police Chief Cleo Mellott, reporting on the need for repairs of the jail building at the rear of the Village Hall, suggested the present Council room and mayor's office on the second floor be removed to the vacant first floor—formerly rented by a grocery store — and jail cells be installed.

For revenue, the second floor could be converted to two apartments and rented, Mellott proposed. At present a music studio of Miss Myrtle Strabley is rented on the second floor.

Mellott, who is provided an apartment on the third floor, explained the proposal in a tour of the hall after Council meeting.

The chief also reported on police activities from April 24 to last night. He said he had patroled 2,390 miles, issued 11 warnings, made nine arrests, received five dog complaints and conducted 112 miscellaneous investigations.

Mellott said the auxiliary police discovered six business places with unlocked doors during night checks.

Councilman Orval Tolsen reported the village will not be able at present to provide bonds for the auxiliary police.

Fred Detchon, adjutant of American Legion Post 442, presented to the village six "Drive Carefully" metal signs to be erected at appropriate sites.

Mayor Kenneth Leishman expressed appreciation of the village administration for the Legion contributions.

Council agreed to instruct a McKinley Ave. property owner to provide adequate cover for an open well reported by Chief Mellott.

An E. Main St. woman was advised a drainage system will be required to eliminate surface water collected in an empty lot. She had explained a fence was about the property, but was told the water remained a hazard.

The annual "Clean-up" trash collection drive continued today in the East End. Trucks will pick up trash Wednesday in the center of the community and School House Hill, and from the Church of Christ through W. Main St. and West End Thursday.

Pete Growall, street director, urged residents to place trash at the curb.

Councilman Joe Knight reported planks for a foot-bridge in West End are available from Art House and Council agreed to order the planks picked up and delivered.

Next meeting is June 12.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Jealousy A Problem Among Children

In a family of two or more children there is sure to be fighting and quarreling. Although no parent can hope never to see or hear such contention and strife, some things may be done to reduce them. Very early, even when the second child arrives, feelings of jealousy in the older child are sure to emerge. Inevitably, as the baby requires considerable care and wins a lot of attention and affection, the older child feels he is not getting all the attention he used to get and craves so much.

Dr. Garry Meyers

As these children grow older or more children are added, any one child may, from time to time, suppose he is not loved and wanted as much as some other child or children of the family. With feelings of jealousy, he is inclined to like the other child less, even to attack him with words or hands.

—:—

ALL SORTS OF situations arise as the children grow older, in which one child may strongly feel antagonistic toward a brother or sister. Then each child cherishes his own possessions while inclined to take or use those of a brother or sister, who will rise in self-defense.

Therefore, it is wise to try to lessen jealousies by finding ways to cause each child, as far as possible, to feel he is as worthy and important in the family as any other child there.

Strive to recognize personal ownership by each child and to train each child to respect this ownership. Often you will need to protect the possessions and rights of one child against the aggression of another.

Although some playthings will be common property, each child should have some things strictly his very own.

When the children reach the age of being able to do chores and bear responsibilities, see that these don't overlap.

WHEN, FOR example, two children, nine or 11, are assigned to do the dishes together, almost surely there will be quarreling. Instead, each child should do such a job alone, alternating from time to time. Jobs should be distributed equally.

Of course, you should expect considerable quarreling and fighting as normal. But when you can no longer stand it, or see that a person or property is endangered, act decisively, placing the responsibility on the aggressor, if you have apprehended him with your own eyes and ears.

Otherwise have no trial. Merely separate the "warriors" for an appreciable time, usually away from the rest of the family.

Henceforth, try harder to reduce the apparent causes of the quarreling. Strive, moreover, to cultivate positive enjoyments in the whole family.

My bulletins, "Quarreling and Fighting" and "Preventing and Reducing Jealousy," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

New Battle Brewing

State Buildings Slated From Budget Cut Money

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Republican - dominated legislature is whacking chunks out of the budget submitted by Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

The big question has been: Where is the money going to go?

The first glimmering of an answer began to show itself today. The extra money will go into capital improvements — state buildings.

There also are indications another budgetary battle is brewing.

James H. Maloon, DiSalle's finance director, is said to be ready to submit a capital improvements plan for the next two years totaling about $75 million. Maloon's proposal probably will go to Rep. Ralph E. Fisher, R-Wayne, House Finance Committee chairman, this week.

But it's understood the Capital Planning and Improvement Board took final action during the last week on a program totaling $17-27 million less than Maloon's.

This program would include $25 million from the funds earmarked for capital improvements in specific departments such as highways, natural resources and so on, and $23 million from the general revenue fund, with top priority, most of it to go for rehabilitation of existing buildings.

It's also said to include a $10 million expansion factor — if the money can be found—with $4.5 million for state universities.

Ten, and possibly 12, bills were up for final action in the House today, including one banning advertising signs within 660 feet of the pavement of interstate highways. Passage would make Ohio eligible for a $10 million federal incentive bonus.

During a two-hour session Monday, the House didn't get to two of the measures on its calendar.

One reason the House was in session an unusually long time was a parliamentary tangle over amendments to a bill doing away with the 50-cent and $1 examination fees on applications to take civil service examinations.

It took eight votes to pass the bill, which goes to the Senate, reinsert a provision that an oath must be taken, and add a loyalty clause asking whether the applicant now or ever has been a member of any organization believing in violent overthrow of the government. The idea was to have a clause that reveals those who have renounced Communism but does not bar their applying.

Among other bills passed and sent to the Senate was one to provide a 40-hour work week for about 10,000 nonteaching school employes such as janitors, and for guards at Ohio's adult and juvenile penal institutions.

The House also completed passsage of a Senate-approved bill allowing hunting of migratory waterfowl (such as ducks) in Ohio on all the days allowed by federal regulations. These have always included several Sundays, when it has not been allowed in Ohio.

The House concurred in Senate amendments to a bill dealing with sale of delinquent tax land and exempting some top county aides from civil service (after refusing previously to concur in the latter), but wouldn't go along with increasing the number of county officials included under another proposal. That one would remove the provision that an appointed county commissioner must be of the same political party as his predecessor.

Meanwhile, senators passed and sent to the House bills to:

Let county election boards rent office and storage space for up to 15 years, instead of on the present year-to-year basis.

Permit the state education department to certify a number of specialists in administration of school systems.

Gov. DiSalle signed a bill Monday which allows county commissioners in Scioto, Ross, Pike, Jackson, Fayette, and Highland Counties to sell 56 acres of jointly owned land in Ross County (Mount Logan Sanitarium) to Ohio University.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I reduce the spattering and smoking of the fat when broiling meats?

A. After preheating the broiler, pour in just enough cold water to cover the bottom of the broiler pan. This will not interfere with the browning or crisping of the meat, will lessen the spattering, and will make the ultimate cleaning of the broiler much easier.

Q. How can I eliminate the necessity of a touch-up painting job after puttying in some new window panes?

A. By working some paint that matches the sash color into your putty.

Q. How can I remove the unpleasant burnt taste from milk that has been slightly scorched?

A. By placing the pan of milk in some cold water, and adding a pinch of salt to the milk.

Three Educators Sift Situation At Ohio Wesleyan

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Wesleyan University's trustees have named three independent educators to study the university's dissension — plagued administrative structure.

The troup will start work in June and report its recommendations to the trustees in the fall, Chairman Philip C. Eberling reported.

Chairman of the group will be Dr. Earl J. McGrath, U. S. Commissioner of Education from 1949 to 1953, and now an administrator at Columbia University. Other consultants are Dr. Paul R. Anderson, a vice president and professor at Temple University, and Dr. Home P. Rainey, a professor at the University of Colorado.

Dissension between Ohio Wesleyan President David A. Lockmiller, the faculty, the trustees and students erupted on the campus this spring. A move to oust Lockmiller was initiated by students and was given faculty support.

The trustees gave a vote of confidence to the president but they later elected Dr. Elden T. Smith the university's first provost, and gave Smith much of the authority previously held by the president.

Appointment of the three consultants was authorized May 13 when Smith was chosen provost. The trustees have requested the consultants to analyze particularly the duties of the president, provost and dean.

Roads Official Says Plans For Freeway Pushed

GREENVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Secretary Park H. Martin of the State Highways Dept. said Monday night that everything is being done to make the proposed Erie-Pittsburgh-West Virginia Freeway a reality as soon as possible.

Martin, addressing the 60 members of the Freeway Association's Board of Directors, declined to estimate when the 160-mile north-south highway in Western Pennsylvania will be completed.

But said the entire federal interstate highway system in Pennsylvania probably won't be completed before 1975, although the federal government hopes to complete it by 1972.

The Erie - Pittsburgh - West Virginia Freeway is a part of the inter-state system. Its estimated $180 million cost will be borne by the federal and state governments with the federal government paying 90 per cent.

Martin said construction should start this summer on two sections of the road. These, he said, are a section near Zelienople called the Zelienople by-pass, and a section in the Washington - Canonsburg area.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I reduce the spattering and smoking of the fat when broiling meats?

A. After preheating the broiler, pour in just enough cold water to cover the bottom of the broiler pan. This will not interfere with the browning or crisping of the meat, will lessen the spattering, and will make the ultimate cleaning of the broiler much easier.

Q. How can I eliminate the necessity of a touch-up painting job after puttying in some new window panes?

A. By working some paint that matches the sash color into your putty.

Q. How can I remove the unpleasant burnt taste from milk that has been slightly scorched?

A. By placing the pan of milk in some cold water, and adding a pinch of salt to the milk.

Three Educators Sift Situation At Ohio Wesleyan

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Wesleyan University's trustees have named three independent educators to study the university's dissension — plagued administrative structure.

The troup will start work in June and report its recommendations to the trustees in the fall, Chairman Philip C. Eberling reported.

Chairman of the group will be Dr. Earl J. McGrath, U. S. Commissioner of Education from 1949 to 1953, and now an administrator at Columbia University. Other consultants are Dr. Paul R. Anderson, a vice president and professor at Temple University, and Dr. Home P. Rainey, a professor at the University of Colorado.

Dissension between Ohio Wesleyan President David A. Lockmiller, the faculty, the trustees and students erupted on the campus this spring. A move to oust Lockmiller was initiated by students and was given faculty support.

The trustees gave a vote of confidence to the president but they later elected Dr. Elden T. Smith the university's first provost, and gave Smith much of the authority previously held by the president.

Appointment of the three consultants was authorized May 13 when Smith was chosen provost. The trustees have requested the consultants to analyze particularly the duties of the president, provost and dean.

Big Men In Wall Street Held Showdown On ASE

The nation's second largest stock market, the American Stock Exchange in New York, has been jolted by the case of Jerry and Gerard Re, important father-and-son members expelled from the exchange by the Securities and Exchange Commission on charges of price rigging and market manipulations. The exchange itself now faces an extensive federal investigation. The following is the first of four articles exploring the situation.

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the most important men in Wall Street held a meeting 17 months ago at the American Stock Exchange, close by Trinity Churchyard in lower Manhattan.

Their conference represented a showdown between the exchange and two of its most prominent members, Jerry and Gerard Re (pronounced Ray).

The Res, father and son, stood accused by their colleagues of flouting certain laws and regulations designed to protect the nation's 15 million investors.

The result — Jerry Re was barred from the exchange floor for just 30 days and Gerard was exonerated.

Among those who viewed the verdict with concern were officials of the U. S. Securities and Exchange Commission, which soon began its own action against the Res with these recent results:

—On April 29, SEC investigators accused the Res of illegally selling nearly $10 million in stocks of nine corporations, of rigging market prices on a wholesale basis, of operating an "underground business combine" rooted in deceit and bribery, of doing "many millions of dollars of harm to thousands of unsuspecting investors."

The Res, according to their accusers, were guilty of the most flagrant market manipulation in the 26-year history of the SEC.

—On May 4, a lawyer for the Res told the commission that Jerry Re, 64, is a "truculent and arrogant old man" who could not be defended against the charges. However, the lawyer argued that Gerard, 38, tried to do the right thing, did not willfully violate the law and should be dealt with less severely.

In less than 90 minutes, the SEC gave its answer: Jerry and Gerard Re were guilty as charged and, as a consequence, were expelled at once from the American Exchange and barred from employment in any phase of the securities business. This was the maximum penalty the commission could impose.

—On May 15, the SEC announced plans to investigate, behind closed doors, "the rules, policies, practices and procedures" of the American Exchange in regulating its members.

The purpose of the inquiry is to determine whether new laws or regulations are needed to protect the investing public.

Edward T. McCormick, president of the American Exchange and a former SEC commissioner, says he welcomes the inquiry "because of the unwarranted inferences which have been made by some" as a result of the Res case.

The Business Conduct Committee of the exchange concluded lengthy hearings on charges that the Res violated rules designed to prevent market operators from driving down stock prices by selling short. The committee recommended that the governors of the exchange find the Res guilty.

Some top exchange officials agreed. These included McCormick and Joseph F. Reilly, then head of the Floor Transactions Committee and now chairman of the Board of Governors.

The Res, at that time, were no strangers to trouble. In mid-1957 they had been hit with a federal injunction prohibiting them from making allegedly illegal stock sales. A year later, the SEC had uncovered what it considered evidence of still further violations but, as yet, had taken no direct action.

The governors exonerated the Res.

Next: Were others guilty?

Big Men In Wall Street Held Showdown On ASE

The nation's second largest stock market, the American Stock Exchange in New York, has been jolted by the case of Jerry and Gerard Re, important father - and - son members expelled from the exchange by the Securities and Exchange Commission on charges of price rigging and market manipulations. The exchange itself now faces an extensive federal investigation. The following is the first of four articles exploring the situation.

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the most important men in Wall Street held a meeting 17 months ago at the American Stock Exchange, close by Trinity Churchyard in lower Manhattan.

Their conference represented a showdown between the exchange and two of its most prominent members, Jerry and Gerard Re (pronounced Ray).

The Res, father and son, stood accused by their colleagues of flouting certain laws and regulations designed to protect the nation's 15 million investors.

The result — Jerry Re was barred from the exchange floor for just 30 days and Gerard was exonerated.

Among those who viewed the verdict with concern were officials of the U. S. Securities and Exchange Commission, which soon began its own action against the Res with these recent results:

—On April 29, SEC investigators accused the Res of illegally selling nearly $10 million in stocks of nine corporations, of rigging market prices on a wholesale basis, of operating an "underground business combine" rooted in deceit and bribery, of doing "many millions of dollars of harm to thousands of unsuspecting investors."

The Res, according to their accusers, were guilty of the most flagrant market manipulation in the 26-year history of the SEC.

—On May 4, a lawyer for the Res told the commission that Jerry Re, 64, is a "truculent and arrogant old man" who could not be defended against the charges. However, the lawyer argued that Gerard, 38, tried to do the right thing, did not willfully violate the law and should be dealt with less severely.

In less than 90 minutes, the SEC gave its answer: Jerry and Gerard Re were guilty as charged and, as a consequence, were expelled at once from the American Exchange and barred from employment in any phase of the securities business. This was the maximum penalty the commission could impose.

—On May 15, the SEC announced plans to investigate, behind closed doors, "the rules, policies, practices and procedures" of the American Exchange in regulating its members.

The purpose of the inquiry is to determine whether new laws or regulations are needed to protect the investing public.

Edward T. McCormick, president of the American Exchange and a former SEC commissioner, says he welcomes the inquiry "because of the unwarranted inferences which have been made by some" as a result of the Res case.

The Business Conduct Committee of the exchange concluded lengthy hearings on charges that the Res violated rules designed to prevent market operators from driving down stock prices by selling short. The committee recommended that the governors of the exchange find the Res guilty.

Some top exchange officials agreed. These included McCormick and Joseph F. Reilly, then head of the Floor Transactions Committee and now chairman of the Board of Governors.

The Res, at that time, were no strangers to trouble. In mid-1957 they had been hit with a federal injunction prohibiting them from making allegedly illegal stock sales. A year later, the SEC had uncovered what it considered evidence of still further violations but, as yet, had taken no direct action.

The governors exonerated the Res.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Does a wife have the right to ask her husband where he is going when he leaves the house after supper with no explanation? Does she have the right to ask him where he has been when he comes in at 3 a.m.?

Clark and I have been married less than a year. He started this about six weeks ago. I didn't want to be a nag or seem nosy, so I said nothing at first. Now I'm beginning to wonder.

Last night when he left right after supper, I asked him where he was going. He said he was not a child and that it wasn't any of my business.

I am 17 and he is 19. I need your advice. I can't talk to my mother about this because she was against our marriage.—ALONE NIGHTS.

-:-

Dear Alone: Welcome to the club — another couple of kids who don't know any more about the responsibilities of marriage than a hog knows about Sunday.

You bet a wife has the right to know where her husband is going — and where he has been.

Marriage should mean mutual interests and doing things together. He should be taking you with him. Talk this problem over with your clergyman at once.

Unless something is done to make you two grow up in a hurry, your marriage is headed for the graveyard.

Still Mama's Girl

Dear Ann: Usually you get letters from women who go with men for years and can't get them to put the ring on that important finger. Well, here's a switch for you. Please tell me what to do.

My girl is 29, very attractive, intelligent and has all the qualities I want in a wife. We've been going together for six years and I've been begging her for at least five of those six years to marry me. She always has had a long list of excuses. I told her last night it was next June or never.

She said she couldn't possibly leave her mother in that big house alone. Although I always swore I'd never move into her mother's home, this may be the only way to get the girl. What do you say?—BOB.

-:-

Dear Bob: I say no. The unbilical cord has never been severed. Her mother probably pumps hot soup through it three times a day. Tell her goodbye.

Messy Guests

Dear Ann: My son who is away at college phoned and asked if he could bring three classmates home for the weekend. One guest was a fellow 20 years of age. The other two were girls both 19. I said it would be just fine since we have a large home and can accommodate three extras easily when our daughter is not at home. She is away at school.

They all arrived in good spirits, seemed to have a very fine time and left this morning. I was surprised to find that the girls left their beds unmade and the room in a mess. My daughter's belongings were scattered all over. The girls had used her cosmetics, nail polish and remover, combs, brushes, hair clips and they emptied a bottle of cologne.

My son will be wanting to invite them again. What shall I say? —UNDECIDED MOTHER.

-:-

Dear Undecided: Say "Yes" ....if he will permit you to give the girls some advance instructions on proper behavior for weekend guests. Apparently they don't know how to conduct themselves and someone ought to tell them.

If your son says he'd rather you wouldn't say anything, let him know he is not free to offer them the hospitality of your home.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dieters Can Choose Own Reducing Plan

There is no one "set" way to reduce that is perfect for all overweight individuals. While no dieter can outwit calories, there are various ways of establishing the needed calorie deficit.

Ida Jean Kain

As a dietitian recommend three protective, balanced meals a day. However, this plan may lack drama and have no appeal to you at all. The successful reducers in today's letters offer a variety of plans.

From Florida: "Last April I weighed 150 pounds and had to buy new clothes as I couldn't zip my skirts. I decided to reduce!

Why be a conformist and eat three big meals a day, I asked myself. I eat my main meal at noon, avoiding excess starch, fat meat, and pastries.

—:—

"I EAT A GOOD breakfast, too ...fruit, a poached egg or whole wheat cereal, whole wheat toast, coffee. The evening meal is light ...cottage cheese with fruit or custard made with skim milk.

"I now weigh 123 pounds, no double chin and very few wrinkles, even though I'm 62. My reward is the proud look my children have when they introduce me to their friends and say, 'This is my mother.' "

From Michigan: "Last March I chose to lose 17 pounds fast, so I skipped a meal every day for two weeks. I lost 14 pounds. I took my time about losing the last three pounds. In fact, took several months but this method helped me stay slim.

"Two points of warning: If you go out in the evening and eat at a friend's home, that may be the equivalent of a fourth meal. Prepare for this by skimping at lunch or at dinner. Secondly, never eat between meals if you like to eat well at the table.

"I am 5 feet 5, weigh 128 pounds, and intend to stay slim."

From Kentucky: "I want you to know that by following the calorie chart you sent, I was able to lose 46 pounds. I need to lose 20 more and would like a copy of your new Revised Calorie Chart. It took me 15 weeks to lose 46 pounds — my doctor wanted me to lose at that rate."

Finally this boost for the scientifically - planned protective diet: "Your balanced diet built around one or two protein foods at each of the three meals a day is just the most!

—:—

"I FOUND that on this diet my energy does carry over and I do not get hungry between low-calorie meals."

There we are, back to the scientifically - planned reducing diet. It's the best in the world for it provides every essential, but calories, generously.

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Hunger Control Diet" and "Revised Calorie Chart." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Lemnitzer Tells Of CIA Expense In Cuban Fiasco

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators have been told the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) spent $45 million training and equipping a 1,500-man guerrilla force never geared for a full-scale Cuban invasion.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is reported to have testified before a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee that he gave informal approval of military arrangements for an attempt to land the 1,500 at a point where they could join guerrillas operating in the mountains.

Lemnitzer was said by committee members to have made it clear that he specified the attempt would be successful only if certain conditions were met.

These reputedly included the destruction of Fidel Castro's meager air force, plus realization of the CIA's prediction that anti-Castro groups would rally to help the invaders escape to the mountains when they came ashore.

The objective, it was reported, was to avoid contact with Castro's army, if possible, and to consolidate forces that could harass him and provide cover for possible further landings.

New Check Case Faces Youth, 20

East Liverpool police have been advised that a 20-year-old former local man held to the Grand Jury Friday on a forgery charge faces a similar count in Escambia County, Fla.

The defendant is Walter Keith Bell of Sandusky, a former resident of East Liverpool and Wellsville, who was bound over here on $1,500 bond on a charge he passed a forged check for $30 Nov. 29 on the Hays Oil Co.

A warrant signed by County Judge Harvey Page alleges Bell issued a fraudulent check for $12.85 Dec. 2 to the San Carlos Hotel at Pensacola, Fla.

At the time the check was cashed in Florida, Bell gave his address as Idaho Ave., the Florida judge said. The check was drawn on the First National Bank here for room rent due the hotel, he added.

Bell was taken into custody by local police when he returned here a few days ago to visit a girl friend, Chief Americo J. Radeschi said.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Does a wife have the right to ask her husband where he is going when he leaves the house after supper with no explanation? Does she have the right to ask him where he has been when he comes in at 3 a.m.?

Clark and I have been married less than a year. He started this about six weeks ago. I didn't want to be a nag or seem nosy, so I said nothing at first. Now I'm beginning to wonder.

Last night when he left right after supper, I asked him where he was going. He said he was not a child and that it wasn't any of my business.

I am 17 and he is 19. I need your advice. I can't talk to my mother about this because she was against our marriage.—ALONE NIGHTS.

-:-

Dear Alone: Welcome to the club — another couple of kids who don't know any more about the responsibilities of marriage than a hog knows about Sunday.

You bet a wife has the right to know where her husband is going — and where he has been.

Marriage should mean mutual interests and doing things together. He should be taking you with him. Talk this problem over with your clergyman at once.

Unless something is done to make you two grow up in a hurry, your marriage is headed for the graveyard.

Still Mama's Girl

Dear Ann: Usually you get letters from women who go with men for years and can't get them to put the ring on that important finger. Well, here's a switch for you. Please tell me what to do.

My girl is 29, very attractive, intelligent and has all the qualities I want in a wife. We've been going together for six years and I've been begging her for at least five of those six years to marry me. She always has had a long list of excuses. I told her last night it was next June or never.

She said she couldn't possibly leave her mother in that big house alone. Although I always swore I'd never move into her mother's home, this may be the only way to get the girl. What do you say?—BOB.

-:-

Dear Bob: I say no. The unbilical cord has never been severed. Her mother probably pumps hot soup through it three times a day. Tell her goodbye.

Messy Guests

Dear Ann: My son who is away at college phoned and asked if he could bring three classmates home for the weekend. One guest was a fellow 20 years of age. The other two were girls both 19. I said it would be just fine since we have a large home and can accommodate three extras easily when our daughter is not at home. She is away at school.

They all arrived in good spirits, seemed to have a very fine time and left this morning. I was surprised to find that the girls left their beds unmade and the room in a mess. My daughter's belongings were scattered all over. The girls had used her cosmetics, nail polish and remover, combs, brushes, hair clips and they emptied a bottle of cologne.

My son will be wanting to invite them again. What shall I say? —UNDECIDED MOTHER.

-:-

Dear Undecided: Say "Yes" ....if he will permit you to give the girls some advance instructions on proper behavior for weekend guests. Apparently they don't know how to conduct themselves and someone ought to tell them.

If your son says he'd rather you wouldn't say anything, let him know he is not free to offer them the hospitality of your home.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dieters Can Choose Own Reducing Plan

There is no one "set" way to reduce that is perfect for all overweight individuals. While no dieter can outwit calories, there are various ways of establishing the needed calorie deficit.

Ida Jean Kain

As a dietitian recommend three protective, balanced meals a day. However, this plan may lack drama and have no appeal to you at all. The successful reducers in today's letters offer a variety of plans.

From Florida: "Last April I weighed 150 pounds and had to buy new clothes as I couldn't zip my skirts. I decided to reduce!

Why be a conformist and eat three big meals a day, I asked myself. I eat my main meal at noon, avoiding excess starch, fat meat, and pastries.

—:—

"I EAT A GOOD breakfast, too ...fruit, a poached egg or whole wheat cereal, whole wheat toast, coffee. The evening meal is light ...cottage cheese with fruit or custard made with skim milk.

"I now weigh 123 pounds, no double chin and very few wrinkles, even though I'm 62. My reward is the proud look my children have when they introduce me to their friends and say, 'This is my mother.' "

From Michigan: "Last March I chose to lose 17 pounds fast, so I skipped a meal every day for two weeks. I lost 14 pounds. I took my time about losing the last three pounds. In fact, took several months but this method helped me stay slim.

"Two points of warning: If you go out in the evening and eat at a friend's home, that may be the equivalent of a fourth meal. Prepare for this by skimping at lunch or at dinner. Secondly, never eat between meals if you like to eat well at the table.

"I am 5 feet 5, weigh 128 pounds, and intend to stay slim."

From Kentucky: "I want you to know that by following the calorie chart you sent, I was able to lose 46 pounds. I need to lose 20 more and would like a copy of your new Revised Calorie Chart. It took me 15 weeks to lose 46 pounds — my doctor wanted me to lose at that rate."

Finally this boost for the scientifically - planned protective diet: "Your balanced diet built around one or two protein foods at each of the three meals a day is just the most!

—:—

"I FOUND that on this diet my energy does carry over and I do not get hungry between low-calorie meals."

There we are, back to the scientifically - planned reducing diet. It's the best in the world for it provides every essential, but calories, generously.

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Hunger Control Diet" and "Revised Calorie Chart." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Allen May Sign June 1 . . .

On or about June 1 Bernie Allen of East Liverpool and Purdue University is expected to sign a major league baseball contract.

The team with the inside track at the present seems to be the Minnesota Twins. The bonus is undisclosed at this moment, but you can be sure that it will be a handsome one.

Twenty-five major league scouts converged on Purdue over the past weekend. They were in Lafayette to talk contract to Allen and Bill Freehan, a giant sophomore catcher from Michigan, who played at Purdue Friday. Freehan, who hit .571 in the Big 10 this season, is expected to sign for close to $100,000.

The Big 10 season is over, but according to a ruling by Ford Frick, commissioner of baseball, college players are not permitted to sign until after their final examinations. Allen will take his exams on May 31, then return to East Liverpool where he will talk to several more scouts before signing.

The Minnesota Twins have had the inside track on Allen for some time from strictly a baseball angle. The Twins are the old Washington Senators and Gene Baker of Youngstown, who was chief Ohio scout for the Senators, was on Allen's trail two years ago.

Baker is a coach with the Twins now and the Minnesota entry wants Allen badly. He performed at shortstop for a poor Purdue team this past season, but if he goes into professional ball, Allen is expected to go to second base.

If he does sign with the Twins, he would have to abandon any ideas about playing professional football. Allen was offered $35,000 for a combined football and baseball deal with the Boston Patriots and the Red Sox.

Next in line so far as teams that show a keen interest in Allen, that is with the dollar bill, is the new team which will enter the National League next year — the New York Mets.

Trick Almost Backfired . . .

A "TRICK of the trade" almost backfired on a St. Louis Cardinal scout, who wound up being quoted in an Indianapolis newspaper that Allen had "bad knees," which would make him a big question mark as a major league prospect.

However, this weekend at Purdue, the situation was straightened out.

Moe Mozalli, Cardinal scout who made the "bad knees" statement, explained his case Saturday as follows to Gordon Graham, sports editor of the Lafayette newspaper. "There was a baseball conversation going on sometime ago and one scout was there who hadn't seen Allen," Mozalli explained.

"He asked about Bernie. I had spent two years working on Bernie and didn't intend to help this guy out. So I said something about bad legs. I had no idea there was a sportswriter present. That's where I got hooked."

Mozalli went on to explain that he had made Allen a high offer last fall after football season, and even a bigger offer Saturday night. "If I feel that way would I knock him if I thought my statement was going to be in a paper."

So Mozalli was only trying to throw another scout off Allen's trail.

It was a "trick of the trade" but it could have proved costly to Allen.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

ALLEN has been named "athlete of the year" at Purdue by one society on campus. He received a gold plaque and his name will be engraved along with many other outstanding athletes on a sidewalk especially for this purpose in front of Purdue's administration building.

MIKE HALL, the former all-around athlete at Beaver Local High School, is a member of Harvard University's lightweight rowing crew.

The Crimson varsity lights, who had won 32 consecutive races over a three-year period before bowing to Navy early this spring, are battling to retain national supremacy for a fourth consecutive year.

Mike is not rowing the varsity boat, which is well stocked with veteran oarsmen, but he is considered a good prospect for the future.

The Los Angeles Dodgers, winning their fifth in a row, beat Cincinnati 2-1 in 10 innings behind the four-hit pitching of Stan Williams Monday night and remained just percentage points shy of first place in the National League race.

San Francisco stayed .014 percentage points ahead with a 3-1 victory at St. Louis. Third-place Pittsburgh, one game behind the Giants, defeated Milwaukee 2-1 in the only other NL game.

Williams, who struck out 11 when he beat the Braves, fanned 8 in this one and walked but 3 while blanking the Reds on two singles after they had tied it 1-all in the first inning.

The Dodgers, winning their eighth in a row on the road, collected 10 hits, but barely pulled it out. Loser Bob Purkey (4-2) gave up a walk to Maury Wills opening the 10th, but after a sacrifice and Willie Davis' single moved him to third, Wills was nailed at the plate trying to score on Wally Moon's infield bouncer. A two-out single by Tommy Davis finally broke it up.

The Giants, after losing three in a row to the Dodgers, bounced back behind Jack Sanford (3-3) at St. Louis, cracking a shutout duel with two runs in the sixth off loser Ernie Broglio (3-5). Two singles, by Chuck Hiller and Harvey Kuenn, and errors by second baseman Alex Grammas and right fielder Joe Cunningham, both on a grounder by Willie Mays, gave the Giants one run. Hobie Landrith's sacrifice fly produced the clincher. Orlando Cepeda closed it out with a home run, his 11th, tops in the NL, in the eighth inning.

Pittsburgh managed just four hits off Bob Buhl (1-4), but one was a tie-breaking home run by Dick Groat in the eighth. It was Groat's first of the year. Harvey Haddix (3-0) was the winner.

McCall Elevated To Head Cage Job At Beaver Local

Tom McCall, 30-year-old assistant coach at Beaver Local High School for the past two years, was elevated to the post of head basketball coach Monday night at a regular meeting of the Beaver Local Board of Education.

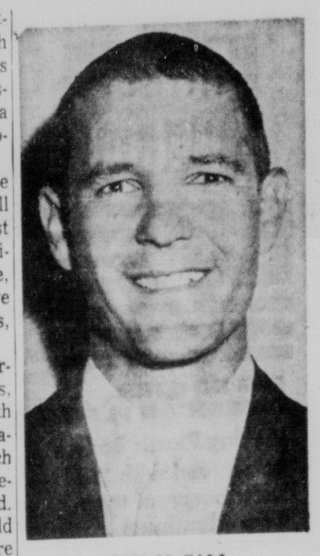
McCall succeeds Jack Frontone who resigned as head basketball coach and athletic director last month. The post of athletic director will be filled at a later date, Dr. George Van Horne, executive head of Beaver Local Schools, said.

The head coaching job was narrowed down to two candidates, McCall and Flo·e Suarez, both assistant basketball coach at Beaver Local. "Both were topnotch candidates and it was a tough decision to make," Van Horne said.

"The fact that McCall had held a head coaching position before in basketball, swung the job in his favor," Van Horne added.

A product of East Palestine High School, McCall was graduated from Kent State University. He has previously held a head coaching job, serving as basketball mentor at Mantua-Crestwood High School near Hiram.

He served two years in the armed forces and then returned to Mantua following his discharge and had an 8-9 record during the 1958-59 season.



TOM McCALL
Assistant Is Moved Up.

At Beaver Local, McCall has served the past two years as assistant basketball coach in charge of freshmen and assistant football coach. This spring he assisted in baseball and was in charge of the school's weight lifting program.

McCall is married and has one son. The McCall's reside in Rogers.

He was one of 47 applicants for the post. Dempsey played quarterback at Geneva College and is a native of Pitcairn, Pa.

No salary was disclosed by Supt. T. R. Hersh. Dempsey will move to East Palestine as soon as he can find a home.

$12,600 Turned Over To Board For Lights

A sum of $12,624.50 was turned over to the Beaver Local Board of Education Monday night by a Citizen's Committee, which has completed a drive to raise funds for lights at the Beaver Local football field.

Dr. Arthur Cloran, chairman of the group, presented the money which had been collected by personal solicitations throughout the school district, including a $5,000 gift received from an anonymous donor.

Another $1,000 is expected from donors, which would put the total well over $13,000. However, the campaign is officially over.

Use of the funds as stipulated by the Citizen's Committee in a letter to the Board will be first for lights. Any surplus funds will go toward fencing, an electric scoreboard, public address system and additional bleachers.

Orioles' Richards Is Named Manager Of AL All-Stars

BOSTON (AP) — Surprised but pleased Paul Richards will make his debut in the All-Star baseball games — as American League manager.

Richards was named Monday by American League President Joe Cronin as pilot for the two games, July 11 at San Francisco and July 31 here.

Richards had never made an All-Star appearance.

Richards, named the AL manager-of-the-year when he directed Baltimore to a second place finish in 1960, commented in New York:

"I feel it is a great honor with grave responsibility which is generally recognized. The games mean a lot to all the players and we shall do our best to try to win.

"I am surprised I got the job. I thought it would go to Ralph Houk. But it is not for me to reason why. . ."

Richards' selection marks only the third time since the late Connie Mack led the junior circuit players into the 1933 All-Star inaugural that the previous year's pennant winning manager has not automatically directed the team.

Cronin said the retirement of Casey Stengel, manager of the New York Yankees last year, necessitated the action. Cronin added that both Stengel and his successor, Houk, had been considered before Richards was picked.

The American League starters, except for the pitchers, will be chosen on the vote of all active AL players, managers and coaches. Richards will name the rest of the squad including the pitchers and two coaches.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching—Frank Funk, Indians, won his fifth with eight innings of two-hit, shutout relief, walking just two and striking out seven in 7-5, 15-inning victory over Twins.

Hitting — Dick Groat, Pirates, broke 1-1 tie with eighth-inning home run, his first of year, for 2-1 victory over Braves.

McCall Elevated To Head Cage Job At Beaver Local

Tom McCall, 30-year-old assistant coach at Beaver Local High School for the past two years, was elevated to the post of head basketball coach Monday night at a regular meeting of the Beaver Local Board of Education.

McCall succeeds Jack Frontone who resigned as head basketball coach and athletic director last month. The post of athletic director will be filled at a later date, Dr. George Van Horne, executive head of Beaver Local Schools, said.

The head coaching job was narrowed down to two candidates, McCall and Flo:e Suarez, both assistant basketball coach at Beaver Local. "Both were topnotch candidates and it was a tough decision to make," Van Horne said.

"The fact that McCall had held a head coaching position before in basketball, swung the job in his favor," Van Horne added.

A product of East Palestine High School, McCall was graduated from Kent State University. He has previously held a head coaching job, serving as basketball mentor at Mantua-Crestwood High School near Hiram.

He served two years in the armed forces and then returned to Mantua following his discharge and had an 8-9 record during the 1958-59 season.

TOM McCALL
Assistant Is Moved Up.

At Beaver Local, McCall has served the past two years as assistant basketball coach in charge of freshmen and assistant football coach. This spring he assisted in baseball and was in charge of the school's weight lifting program.

McCall is married and has one son. The McCall's reside in Rogers.

$12,600 Turned Over To Board For Lights

A sum of $12,624.50 was turned over to the Beaver Local Board of Education Monday night by a Citizen's Committee, which has completed a drive to raise funds for lights at the Beaver Local football field.

Dr. Arthur Cloran, chairman of the group, presented the money which had been collected by personal solicitations throughout the school district, including a $5,000 gift received from an anonymous donor.

Another $1,000 is expected from donors, which would put the total well over $13,000. However, the campaign is officially over.

Use of the funds as stipulated by the Citizen's Committee in a letter to the Board will be first for lights. Any surplus funds will go toward fencing, an electric scoreboard, public address system and additional bleachers.

Orioles' Richards Is Named Manager Of AL All-Stars

BOSTON (AP) — Surprised but pleased Paul Richards will make his debut in the All-Star baseball games — as American League manager.

Richards was named Monday by American League President Joe Cronin as pilot for the two games, July 11 at San Francisco and July 31 here.

Richards had never made an All-Star appearance.

Richards, named the AL manager-of-the-year when he directed Baltimore to a second place finish in 1960, commented in New York:

"I feel it is a great honor with grave responsibility which is generally recognized. The games mean a lot to all the players and we shall do our best to try to win.

"I am surprised I got the job. I thought it would go to Ralph Houk. But it is not for me to reason why. . ."

Richards' selection marks only the third time since the late Connie Mack led the junior circuit players into the 1933 All-Star inaugural that the previous year's pennant winning manager has not automatically directed the team.

Cronin said the retirement of Casey Stengel, manager of the New York Yankees last year, necessitated the action. Cronin added that both Stengel and his successor, Houk, had been considered before Richards was picked.

The American League starters, except for the pitchers, will be chosen on the vote of all active AL players, managers and coaches. Richards will name the rest of the squad including the pitchers and two coaches.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching—Frank Funk, Indians, won his fifth with eight innings of two-hit, shutout relief, walking just two and striking out seven in 7-5, 15-inning victory over Twins.

Hitting — Dick Groat, Pirates, broke 1-1 tie with eighth-inning home run, his first of year, for 2-1 victory over Braves.

N. Carolina Schools De-Emphasize

* * *

Large Scale Changes Planned

* * *

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—A long series of basketball troubles at the University of North Carolina and N.C. State College culminated Monday in a dramatic program of athletic de-emphasis decreed by the administration and trustees.

Involvement of players from both schools in the basketball gambling scandal was the spur for the action.

The man credited with bringing big-time collegiate basketball to the Tar Heel state, veteran coach Everett Case of N.C. State, reacted philosophically.

"We must remember, these men are running, first of all, educational institutions. This thing was starting to run away with itself. An evil influence was getting into the game," Case said.

In announcing the de-emphasis to the consolidated University of North Carolina's 100 trustees, President William Friday, explained, "Our aim is to save athletics."

With but three or four exceptions, the trustees stood up to signify approval of the program that:

1. Kills the 12-year-old Dixie Classic basketball tournament sponsored by N.C. State College and matching State, UNC, Duke and Wake Forest against four top intersectional teams.

2. Limits UNC and state basketball competition to the 14 conference games required by the Atlantic Coast Conference, participation in the ACC tournament, participation in the NCAA tournament and only two non-conference games.

3. Curtails player recruiting by allowing only two athletic grants-in-aid a year to basketball prospects outside the ACC states of Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina. Friday said the same principle would apply to football.

4. Bars basketball players from participating in organized competition during the summer months.

The Dixie Classic had hardly been killed, however, before there were hints of rebirth. Wake Forest Athletic Director Bill Gibson said Monday night that since Colgate, Illinois, Tulane and Stanford had been scheduled to participate, Wake Forest and Duke would talk about staging the Classic in another city, possibly Winston-Salem, Greensboro or Charlotte.

N.C. State Athletic Director Roy Clogston said he would have no objections, but couldn't "be a part to encouraging it."

Two players from North Carolina, reserve Lou Brown and star Doug Moe, were implicated in the game-fixing scandal being investigated by the New York district attorney's office. Charges of accepting bribes to shave points for gamblers have been brought in Carolina against three N.C. State players: captain Stan Niewierowski, Anton (Dutch) Muehlbauer and Terry Litchfield.

The gambling scandals followed player recruiting violations of recent years which resulted in the NCAA placing State on probation for four years and North Carolina for one.

Golf Officials Seeking 'Friendly Solution'

Palmer, Player And Leonard Wait Action On Canada Cup

NEW YORK (AP) — Officials talked of a "friendly and imminent solution" without any indication what it might do today in the squabble over whether golf stars Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Stan Leonard should be permitted to play in the International Canada Cup matches in San Juan June 1-4.

Sponsors of the Memphis Open, a regular stop on the Professional Golfers Association tour scheduled at the same time, insist they will not release the three from routine PGA commitments.

Player, the Masters champion from South Africa, says he has no intention of risking a six-month suspension and a $500 fine—called for if he defies his PGA commitment and represents his country in the San Juan matches. Palmer, defending U.S. Open champion who won the Canada Cup title paired with Sam Snead last year, and Leonard, one of Canada's top professionals, also are caught in the middle awaiting the outcome of the fuss between the PGA and the International Golf Association, inaugurator and sponsor of the Canada Cup matches.

"Everyone is working hard trying to find a friendly solution to the problem," Fred Corcoran, director of the IGA said. "We expect a decision to be reached very soon."

Neither he, nor Ed Carter, PGA tournament director, indicated what sort of a "friendly" solution might be found.

"All the sponsors of our tour tournaments are endorsing the move because it means the existence of the whole tour," Carter told The AP from Chicago today. "The Memphis sponsors are in the lead but all the sponsors around the country are behind them. If committed players are permitted to withdraw to play in competing tournaments without full agreement, the whole tour is threatened."

The system of commitments by top players in golf has been in effect for several years. Agreed to by the tour members, it states that if a golfer is in the top 25 money winners or has won a PGA sponsored tournament within the last year, he must play in all sanctioned PGA tournaments or not compete at all while each tournament is in progress.

Trainer Denies Carry Back Hurt

NEW YORK (AP) — The Daily News said today that Carry Back, winner of the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, "was injured in shipment between Pimlico and Garden State and is a doubtful starter in the Belmont Stakes."

In Camden, N.J., however, site of Garden State Park, Jack Price, trainer of Carry Back, said the 3-year-old colt shipped in excellent shape from the Pimlico track in Baltimore.

("I've got about 15 calls about whether he's been hurt," Price said. "Where do these things start?")

The News said that Carry Back, expected to be the first 3-year-old since Citation 1948 to win racing's triple crown, "is believed to have suffered an injury to the big cannon bone of one back leg."

Tigers On Top By 3½

Detroit Romps Over A's; Yanks Clip Orioles, 8-2

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

First place Detroit walloped Kansas City 10-2 Monday night and retained a 3½-game lead in the American League race over Cleveland. The Indians defeated Minnesota 7-5 in 15 innings, and the third place New York, retired in order for five innings by Jack Fisher, beat Baltimore 8-2. Boston defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-1 and the Los Angeles Angels beats Washington 6-4.

Clete Boyer broke up the perfect game by Fisher (1-5) with a leadoff single in the sixth inning for the Yankees and came around with an unearned run for a 1-1 tie. Boyer also hit a three-run homer in the eighth—with all the runs unearned—off Fisher, who finished with a five-hitter.

The Yankees, with Jim Coates (4-2) winning it in relief of Art Ditmar, put it away in a four-run seventh. Two walks and a single by Yogi Berra broke the tie, and the clinching run came home when second base umpire Larry Napp ruled second baseman Marv Breeding had trapped a liner by Elston Howard. After the Orioles gave up their argument that Breeding had caught the ball, Tony Kubek capped the inning with a two-run, two-out single.

The Tigers came from behind on a tying, solo homer by Norm Cash in the fourth inning, then flattened the A's with six runs in the fifth off Norm Bass (2-2). Right-hander Phil Regan (5-0) allowed just five hits, one a pinch homer by Don Larsen.

Cleveland, 4-0 in extra-inning games, made it six straight on Willie Kirkland's tie-breaking single in the 15th off losing reliever Ted Sadowski and eight innings of two-hit, shutout relief by Frank Funk (5-2). A pair of two-run homers by Woody Held overhauled a 5-1 lead by the Twins.

Bill Monbouquette put away only his third victory in seven decisions for Boston, but reduced his earned run average to 1.93 for 60 2-3 innings while beating the White Sox with a seven-hitter. Frank Baumann (2-3) was the loser, giving up a walk and singles by Carl Yastrzemski, Jim Pagliaroni and Frank Malzone as the Red Sox broke a 1-1 tie in a three-run fourth.

The Angels cut down one Washington runner at the plate in the eighth and escaped another score when rookie Chuck Hinton left third base too soon on Jim King's apparent sacrifice fly in the Senators' seventh. Los Angeles made the deciding run on a squeeze bunt by winner Eli Grba (4-4) in the sixth. Pete Burnside (2-2) was the loser.

Travelers, Burbicks Open LL Season With Victories

Travelers Hotel and Burbicks opened the 1961 Little League season with victories Monday night. Travelers captured an 8-3 tilt from Millirons while Burbick's scored a 6-3 win over McBurney's.

The game between Chester Legion and the Medics set for the LaCroft field was postponed until Wednesday because of wet grounds.

Travelers built up an 8-0 lead before Millirons scored as Jack Myler picked up the pitching victory and struck out nine on the way. The bat of Rick Forzano was booming when he blasted two doubles and a single to pace Travelers' 12-hit attack while 10-year-old Simms blasted a home run for the winners.

Carl Natalina limited McBurney's to three hits while his teammates rang the bell for 10 safeties.

Jay Welch blasted a home run and single and Ed Brewer and Ed Golden had a pair of hits each to lead the winners at the plate.

Three games are set tonight.

Litten's Pound Out 10-0 Victory Over Woodbine

Behind the five hit shutout pitching of Jim Johnson, Litten's pounded out a 10-0 victory over Woodbine to mark the 1961 Pony League opener Monday at Dopler Field.

Johnson fanned 10 batters and walked only one in going the seven inning distance.

He was solidly backed with an 11-hit attack. Johnson helped his own cause with a pair of hits while Burkhart and Huddleston collected two each.

Chetwynd was the loser but struck out nine while walking six. His teammates had seven errors behind him.

Burke led Woodbine's hitting attack by collecting two doubles in three trips.

N. Carolina Schools De-Emphasize

Large Scale Changes Planned

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—A long series of basketball troubles at the University of North Carolina and N.C. State College culminated Monday in a dramatic program of athletic de-emphasis decreed by the administration and trustees.

Involvement of players from both schools in the basketball gambling scandal was the spur for the action.

The man credited with bringing big-time collegiate basketball to the Tar Heel state, veteran coach Everett Case of N.C. State, reacted philosophically.

"We must remember, these men are running, first of all, educational institutions. This thing was starting to run away with itself. An evil influence was getting into the game," Case said.

In announcing the de-emphasis to the consolidated University of North Carolina's 100 trustees, President William Friday, explained, "Our aim is to save athletics."

With but three or four exceptions, the trustees stood up to signify approval of the program that:

1. Kills the 12-year-old Dixie Classic basketball tournament sponsored by N.C. State College and matching State, UNC, Duke and Wake Forest against four top intersectional teams.

2. Limits UNC and state basketball competition to the 14 conference games required by the Atlantic Coast Conference, participation in the ACC tournament, participation in the NCAA tournament and only two non-conference games.

3. Curtails player recruiting by allowing only two athletic grants-in-aid a year to basketball prospects outside the ACC states of Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina. Friday said the same principle would apply to football.

4. Bars basketball players from participating in organized competition during the summer months.

The Dixie Classic had hardly been killed, however, before there were hints of rebirth. Wake Forest Athletic Director Bill Gibson said Monday night that since Colgate, Illinois, Tulane and Stanford had been scheduled to participate, Wake Forest and Duke would talk about staging the Classic in another city, possibly Winston-Salem, Greensboro or Charlotte.

N.C. State Athletic Director Roy Clogston said he would have no objections, but couldn't "be a part to encouraging it."

Two players from North Carolina, reserve Lou Brown and star Doug Moe, were implicated in the game-fixing scandal being investigated by the New York district attorney's office. Charges of accepting bribes to shave points for gamblers have been brought in Carolina against three N.C. State players: captain Stan Niewierowski, Anton (Dutch) Muehlbauer and Terry Litchfield.

The gambling scandals followed player recruiting violations of recent years which resulted in the NCAA placing State on probation for four years and North Carolina for one.

Golf Officials Seeking 'Friendly Solution'

Palmer, Player And Leonard Wait Action On Canada Cup

NEW YORK (AP) — Officials talked of a "friendly and imminent solution" without any indication what it might do today in the squabble over whether golf stars Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Stan Leonard should be permitted to play in the International Canada Cup matches in San Juan June 1-4.

Sponsors of the Memphis Open, a regular stop on the Professional Golfers Association tour scheduled at the same time, insist they will not release the three from routine PGA commitments.

Player, the Masters champion from South Africa, says he has no intention of risking a six-month suspension and a $500 fine—called for if he defies his PGA commitment and represents his country in the San Juan matches. Palmer, defending U.S. Open champion who won the Canada Cup title paired with Sam Snead last year, and Leonard, one of Canada's top professionals, also are caught in the middle awaiting the outcome of the fuss between the PGA and the International Golf Association, inaugurator and sponsor of the Canada Cup matches.

"Everyone is working hard trying to find a friendly solution to the problem," Fred Corcoran, director of the IGA said. "We expect a decision to be reached very soon."

Neither he, nor Ed Carter, PGA tournament director, indicated what sort of a "friendly" solution might be found.

"All the sponsors of our tour tournaments are endorsing the move because it means the existence of the whole tour," Carter told The AP from Chicago today. "The Memphis sponsors are in the lead but all the sponsors around the country are behind them. If committed players are permitted to withdraw to play in competing tournaments without full agreement, the whole tour is threatened."

The system of commitments by top players in golf has been in effect for several years. Agreed to by the tour members, it states that if a golfer is in the top 25 money winners or has won a PGA sponsored tournament within the last year, he must play in all sanctioned PGA tournaments or not compete at all while each tournament is in progress.

Trainer Denies Carry Back Hurt

NEW YORK (AP) — The Daily News said today that Carry Back, winner of the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, "was injured in shipment between Pimlico and Garden State and is a doubtful starter in the Belmont Stakes."

In Camden, N.J., however, site of Garden State Park, Jack Price, trainer of Carry Back, said the 3-year-old colt shipped in excellent shape from the Pimlico track in Baltimore.

("I've got about 15 calls about whether he's been hurt," Price said. "Where do these things start?")

The News said that Carry Back, expected to be the first 3-year-old since Citation 1948 to win racing's triple crown, "is believed to have suffered an injury to the big cannon bone of one back leg."

Tigers On Top By 3½

Detroit Romps Over A's; Yanks Clip Orioles, 8-2

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

First place Detroit walloped Kansas City 10-2 Monday night and retained a 3½-game lead in the American League race over Cleveland. The Indians defeated Minnesota 7-5 in 15 innings, and the third place New York, retired in order for five innings by Jack Fisher, beat Baltimore 8-2. Boston defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-1 and the Los Angeles Angels beats Washington 6-4.

Clete Boyer broke up the perfect game by Fisher (1-5) with a leadoff single in the sixth inning for the Yankees and came around with an unearned run for a 1-1 tie. Boyer also hit a three-run homer in the eighth—with all the runs unearned—off Fisher, who finished with a five-hitter.

The Yankees, with Jim Coates (4-2) winning it in relief of Art Ditmar, put it away in a four-run seventh. Two walks and a single by Yogi Berra broke the tie, and the clinching run came home when second base umpire Larry Napp ruled second baseman Marv Breeding had trapped a liner by Elston Howard. After the Orioles gave up their argument that Breeding had caught the ball, Tony Kubek capped the inning with a two-run, two-out single.

The Tigers came from behind on a tying, solo homer by Norm Cash in the fourth inning, then flattened the A's with six runs in the fifth off Norm Bass (2-2). Right-hander Phil Regan (5-0) allowed just five hits, one a pinch homer by Don Larsen.

Cleveland, 4-0 in extra-inning games, made it six straight on Willie Kirkland's tie-breaking single in the 15th off losing reliever Ted Sadowski and eight innings of two-hit, shutout relief by Frank Funk (5-2). A pair of two-run homers by Woody Held overhauled a 5-1 lead by the Twins.

Bill Monbouquette put away only his third victory in seven decisions for Boston, but reduced his earned run average to 1.93 for 60 2-3 innings while beating the White Sox with a seven-hitter. Frank Baumann (2-3) was the loser, giving up a walk and singles by Carl Yastrzemski, Jim Pagliaroni and Frank Malzone as the Red Sox broke a 1-1 tie in a three-run fourth.

The Angels cut down one Washington runner at the plate in the eighth and escaped another score when rookie Chuck Hinton left third base too soon on Jim King's apparent sacrifice fly in the Senators' seventh. Los Angeles made the deciding run on a squeeze bunt by winner Eli Grba (4-4) in the sixth. Pete Burnside (2-2) was the loser.

Travelers, Burbicks Open LL Season With Victories

Travelers Hotel and Burbicks opened the 1961 Little League season with victories Monday night. Travelers captured an 8-3 tilt from Millirons while Burbick's scored a 6-3 win over McBurney's.

The game between Chester Legion and the Medics set for the LaCroft field was postponed until Wednesday because of wet grounds.

Travelers built up an 8-0 lead before Millirons scored as Jack Myler picked up the pitching victory and struck out nine on the way. The bat of Rick Forzano was booming when he blasted two doubles and a single to pace Travelers' 12-hit attack while 10-year-old Simms blasted a home run for the winners.

Carl Natalina limited McBurney's to three hits while his teammates rang the bell for 10 safeties.

Jay Welch blasted a home run and single and Ed Brewer and Ed Golden had a pair of hits each to lead the winners at the plate.

Three games are set tonight.

Litten's Pound Out 10-0 Victory Over Woodbine

Behind the five hit shutout pitching of Jim Johnson, Litten's pounded out a 10-0 victory over Woodbine to mark the 1961 Pony League opener Monday at Dopler Field.

Johnson fanned 10 batters and walked only one in going the seven inning distance.

He was solidly backed with an 11-hit attack. Johnson helped his own cause with a pair of hits while Burkhart and Huddleston collected two each.

Chetwynd was the loser but struck out nine while walking six. His teammates had seven errors behind him.

Burke led Woodbine's hitting attack by collecting two doubles in three trips.

Out Of The Air

By MARIE TORRE

Kovacs Proves Comedy Is Not Dead

Television long ago proclaimed comedy dead, but on ABC the other night Ernie Kovacs tried to turn back the clock to the days of comedy and almost succeeded in this reactionary purpose.

Marie Torre

For most of the half hour, Kovacs produced humor which was astonishingly funny and some of which was just plain astonishing, like abstract art. His show opened with a succession of wildly conceived blackouts (a hand sticking out of a bathtub drain, an egg dropping through a frying pan), progressed to a skit in which diners ate to the musical beat of "Kara Karayeu," and concluded with a quietly dramatic street scene based on a musical theme by Bela Bartok.

-:-

A SKETCH in which two apes were launched into space was a reminder that Kovacs' humor doesn't always succeed, and a few other segments reflected the comedian's apparent distaste for editing.

But in spite of the inherent shortcomings, the Kovacs humor is always novel and interesting, bold and genuinely original.

It is one of the wonders of broadcasting that this most avant grade of comedians should find a home on a network that has made itself solvent through the exploitation of the most basic type of programming.

Its unceasing preoccupation with Westerns, action adventure, and gangster films forced the rival networks to compete with like programming, turning television into a maze of gunsmoke and violence. In its own way, ABC has become a leader by default.

-:-

PROGRAMS such as the monthly Kovacs special, "Closeup," and the Winston Churchill series, indicate, however, that ABC has begun to program on a higher plane.

In the new season, it will launch a weekly show with Steve Allen, the thinking man's comedian. Also under preparation are a series based on the Franklin Delano Roosevelt years, a promising series of dramas to be produced by Fred Coe, and further news-in-depth ventures.

In short, ABC is acquiring a "new look." Things are looking up, indeed!

NEITHER the loss of her Sunday time period nor the defection of her sponsor will keep Dinah Shore off television in the new season. The song star will be back on NBC on alternate Friday nights, beginning Oct. 6, with another sponsor paying the tab. . . .

Worthington Miner, executive producer of "Play of the Week," that "The Iceman Cometh," the dramatic highlight of this television season, might never have been produced if the project had been submitted to the code review board of the National Association of Broadcasters. The code, says Miner, would condemn the raw emotionalism of "Iceman," but it lends sanction to sadism and violence in some series. . . .

A rumor persists that Edward R. Murrow will resign from his United States Information Agency post before the year's end.

-:-

DURING THE HOT weather months, NBC's Tussday night 10-11 slot will accommodate six "Special for Women's programs, two "Project 20" presentations, and one "Sunday Showcase," reruns all! Small wonder viewing declines 64 per cent in the summertime! . . .

Taking a cue from President Kennedy's speech to the Canadian Parliament last week, NBC's "The Nation's Future" will debate the question, "Should NATO Be a Nuclear Power?" next Saturday. . . .

Favoring federal money for construction of educational TV stations, Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Abraham Ribicoff told the House Commerce communications subcommittee that broadcasters have been "derelict" in providing cultural and public service programs, that they have done much talking but little acting, and "we will not get what we need" without educational TV.

Annexation Of Land Near Lisbon Slated

LISBON — Council Monday night approved the annexation of 45 acres north of the village and east of Route 45, a tract expected to be made into allotments by the owner, Robert Williams.

The vote was 5-1, with Raymond Dixon still opposed. He contends half ownership of the north boundary road should either be given entirely to Center Township or to the village. As it is now, the village and township must share maintenance.

Mayor Dean Stockman reported that the Board of Public Affairs had a pumper fire hydrant installed on the west end of Maple St. between Green St. and the railroad tracks.

He said the village is painting the parking stalls and marking streets. The street improvement has been hampered by the weather, he said.

He also reported that the village and township will receive rescue truck, fire truck, pumper truck and another truck.

Louis Hedl has been appointed Civil Defense director and will handle the equipment and the 30 trained auxiliary police force.

Councilman Robert Kelm reported on his survey of merchants in the area where the Lions Club will hold a street fair on S. Market St. and Park Ave. He polled 17 store owners and merchants and that 13 are opposed to the street fair, one favors it and three had no opinion. Mayor Stockman gave the information to the street committee for a solution. The fair will be held this year as usual, however.

Converting W. Chestnut St. to one-way was discussed but no action taken. Advised that there are no stop signs on Spruce St. at the intersection of Beaver and N. Market. Mayor Stockman said he will see that they are erected.

Bills of $7,006.74 were read and ordered paid.

Council will return to the summer schedule of meeting only monthly during June, July and August and the next is June 12.

Kovacs Proves Comedy Is Not Dead

Television long ago proclaimed comedy dead, but on ABC the other night Ernie Kovacs tried to turn back the clock to the days of comedy and almost succeeded in this reactionary purpose.

Marie Torre

For most of the half hour, Kovacs produced humor which was astonishingly funny and some of which was just plain astonishing, like abstract art. His show opened with a succession of wildly conceived blackouts (a hand sticking out of a bathtub drain, an egg dropping through a frying pan), progressed to a skit in which diners ate to the musical beat of "Kara Karayeu," and concluded with a quietly dramatic street scene based on a musical theme by Bela Bartok.

-:-

A SKETCH in which two apes were launched into space was a reminder that Kovacs' humor doesn't always succeed, and a few other segments reflected the comedian's apparent distaste for editing.

But in spite of the inherent shortcomings, the Kovacs humor is always novel and interesting, bold and genuinely original.

It is one of the wonders of broadcasting that this most avant grade of comedians should find a home on a network that has made itself solvent through the exploitation of the most basic type of programming.

Its unceasing preoccupation with Westerns, action adventure, and gangster films forced the rival networks to compete with like programming, turning television into a maze of gunsmoke and violence. In its own way, ABC has become a leader by default.

-:-

PROGRAMS such as the monthly Kovacs special, "Closeup," and the Winston Churchill series, indicate, however, that ABC has begun to program on a higher plane.

In the new season, it will launch a weekly show with Steve Allen, the thinking man's comedian. Also under preparation are a series based on the Franklin Delano Roosevelt years, a promising series of dramas to be produced by Fred Coe, and further news-in-depth ventures.

In short, ABC is acquiring a "new look." Things are looking up, indeed!

NEITHER the loss of her Sunday time period nor the defection of her sponsor will keep Dinah Shore off television in the new season. The song star will be back on NBC on alternate Friday nights, beginning Oct. 6, with another sponsor paying the tab. . . .

Worthington Miner, executive producer of "Play of the Week," that "The Iceman Cometh," the dramatic highlight of this television season, might never have been produced if the project had been submitted to the code review board of the National Association of Broadcasters. The code, says Miner, would condemn the raw emotionalism of "Iceman," but it lends sanction to sadism and violence in some series. . . .

A rumor persists that Edward R. Murrow will resign from his United States Information Agency post before the year's end.

-:-

DURING THE HOT weather months, NBC's Tussday night 10-11 slot will accommodate six "Special for Women's programs, two "Project 20" presentations, and one "Sunday Showcase," reruns all! Small wonder viewing declines 64 per cent in the summertime! . . .

Taking a cue from President Kennedy's speech to the Canadian Parliament last week, NBC's "The Nation's Future" will debate the question, "Should NATO Be a Nuclear Power?" next Saturday. . . .

Favoring federal money for construction of educational TV stations, Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Abraham Ribicoff told the House Commerce communications subcommittee that broadcasters have been "derelict" in providing cultural and public service programs, that they have done much talking but little acting, and "we will not get what we need" without educational TV.

In recognition of the week, the citadel will conduct special services Sunday at 10:45 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Maj. William Hathorn, commander, will be in charge. The theme will be "Beating the Big Bass Drum Isn't a One-Man Job In Our Town."

Groups who attend the regular week-day programs of the corps will participate in the Sunday services. The band and Songsters will present the music.

Woman Put On Probation

Mrs. Sarah Koffel, 27, of East Liverpool has been placed on probation in connection with a hold-up at Miami, Fla., where a six-man Criminal Court jury convicted a former judge and a confederate of master - minding the laundry robbery that netted $11,720.

Judge Jack A. Falk sentenced George Jackman, the former judge, and co-defendant Donald Watkins, to terms of 6 months to 5 years in the state prison.

Jackman, once a North Miami Beach city judge, stared straight ahead when the sentence was read Friday. He was allowed to remain under $5,000 bond pending an appeal. Watkins was returned to jail pending another hearing Monday.

Four other men, already serving terms for other holdups, testified against Jackman as did Watkins' ex-wife. The other men had pleaded guilty to robbing the Riverside Laundry on June 12, 1959.

"Indeterminate" 6-month to 3-year sentences are given persons who have never been convicted previously. Jackman's time in prison will depend on the State Parole Board.

Mrs. Koffel, formerly married to Watkins, pleaded guilty.
